WALL STREET INDUSTRIALS ARE HIGHER, RAILS OFF IN DULL MARKET

Bears Withdraw When Bullish Operations Are Resumed in a Few Trading Favorites—Pivotal Issues Not Changed Much

TOBACCO SHARES SHOW STRENGTH

Warner Brothers Issue Rebounds After Selling Lower—New York Central Is Lower, U. S. Steel Is Higher.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Selling a dull market short, traditionally unresponsive but practically sometimes successful of late proved true to tradition in today's stock market, and bears withdrew as bullish operations were resumed in a few trading favorites.

Trading was extremely dull, the day's total sales aggregating 1,249,000 shares, close to the year's smallest turnover. Closing quotations in most pivotal stocks were not more than a point removed from yesterday's final sales, but some shares showed net gains of 1 to 2 points. A few shares closed a point or two lower.

Announcement of the filing of a membership petition for Warner Bros., which had rumored about some time, proved a signal for short covering. Further selling during the morning sent a few of the coppers and rails to new lows, and the whole market was heavy for a time. The Warner receivership petition filed by a business man charged mismanagement and after selling off 2 points to a new low the stock rallied to close only a fraction lower.

Tobacco Are Strong.
The tobacco issues were generally strong, reflecting favorable July consumption statistics. The American Tobacco new shares rose to a new high level and the old B stock closed up nearly 5, after selling up 6. International Business Machines was firm in response to reports of a large backlog of orders to keep the Endicott plant at capacity for some time. After rising 2, it closed up 2.

Diamond Match rose about 6 to a new high, and Allied Chemicals 1 share closing up 2 to 3. Included Standard Gas, Vanadium, Eastman, Byers, Canadian Pacific, Johns-Manville, Foster-Wheeler, U. S. Steel, American Gas and General Motors were up about a point.

Bulls generally were inclined to decline. No Haven, New York Central and Chicago Great Western being a point or two.

Dividend Rate Reduced.
Conspicuous in the day's corporation news was announcement of the halving of the 24 dividend rate by McKesson & Robbins. A statement by the management, however, indicated that the continuation of cash was for the purpose of continuing an aggressive merchandising policy, including liberal advertising expenditures.

The fact that a further reduction of $2,000,000 in brokers' loans was reported for the latest week, a week of rising prices, was interpreted as indicating that stocks generally remain in strong hands.

Stock prices, with other tables and market news, will be found on pages 15C, 16C and 17C.

Mrs. McCormick Says She'll Work For 18th Amendment Repeal if Illinois Referendum Goes Wet

'Stands Ready to Obey Mandate,' G. O. P. Candidate for U. S. Senate Says at Springfield Convention.

FAIR, CONTINUED COOL TONIGHT AND TOMORROW

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 22.—Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican candidate for the United States Senate from Illinois, told the State convention of Republicans today that if the voters next November favored repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment she stands ready to obey their mandate.

Mrs. McCormick's views on prohibition coincided with the plank offered the delegates by the platform committee shortly before she started speaking.

"The Republican state convention," the platform said, "adhering to the doctrine of majority rule, pledges its representatives in the Congress of the United States to vote consistently and to carry out fully the expressed will of the people of their districts at the referendum on the questions of public policy in the election of Nov. 4, 1930."

Mrs. McCormick's views on prohibition coincided with the plank offered the delegates by the platform committee shortly before she started speaking.

"We have in the platform a declaration on the subject of prohibition," Mrs. McCormick said, "The problem is one that has engaged the attention of the country for the last 10 years. It is not a partisan political issue, but rather a public policy question which concerns all citizens of all our states and upon which there has been bitter controversy and almost endless attempts at adjustment by means of legislation."

"The eighteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which became effective on Jan. 17, 1920, and the enforcement act, known as the Volstead law, have been and are now opposed by many American citizens," she continued. "It is not to the point, at this time, to debate the question as to whether the opposition to the amendment and to the enforcement act represent a minority or a majority of our citizens. We must confront the fact that any group of citizens has a right under the Constitution—a right expressed in the great charter of 1791—to petition the Government."

"As a candidate for the Republican nomination for Senator last spring, I publicly declared by position as a dry. That is still my personal conviction. I held that there was no alternative to honest enforcement and obedience of any law except that of repeal or amendment of those laws."

"However, I wholeheartedly concur with my party's expressed adherence to the principle of majority rule. Therefore, I heartily approve my party's declaration that it will be responsible to the expression on referendum questions. I shall, as Senator, accept such a majority expression as a mandate from the people whom I shall represent."

"If a majority in Illinois is recorded as favorable to the repeal of the eighteenth amendment (at the referendum next November), I stand ready when elected Senator to obey their mandate, and I shall vote to submit the question of its repeal to the several States. If the expressed will of the people is to stand ready when elected Senator to obey their mandate, and I shall vote to submit the question of its repeal to the several States."

"The definite course of action would be dependent, of course, upon the nature of the modification demanded."

"About Blanket Indorsement.
"It is impossible for any candidate honestly to agree in advance to a blanket indorsement of modification proposals."

"I also wish to make it clear that until the constitutional amendment is repealed or until the Volstead act is repealed, or amended, I stand squarely for enforcement of both of these measures. As a public officer I have no choice and no privilege of discretion as to whether a law shall or shall not be enforced. As an individual and as a citizen not bound by any oath, I still would stand for enforcement of all our laws and of all articles of the Constitution."

"I am in favor of enforcement that will justify respect for all Federal laws. At the same time I am in favor of an enforcement program which shall conflict in no way with the rights of our citizens as guaranteed under the Constitution. I believe in a program of enforcement that would be tolerated which in any degree infringes upon the constitutional right of a citizen to a trial by jury."

"Whatever course we take, whether we favor or oppose the present restriction upon the sale and possession of liquor, we must not deviate from a firm faith in the Constitution."

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—H. M. Warner, president of Warner Bros. By the Associated Press.
BILLINGS, Mont., Aug. 22.—His proposal of marriage, spurred earlier in the day, Asie Johnson, 19-year-old railroad call boy, attempted to shoot "his sweetheart, Miss Alice Greenleaf, 18, yesterday, but shot her twin sister, Alice, apparently by mistake. Johnson then shot himself to death."

Johnson fired twice at Alice and the revolver misfired. He fired a third time and the bullet went wild as Alice ran to the A. Keefe home, where she is employed. Her sister, hearing the screams, ran from the house next door. As she was going up the rear steps of the Keefe home, she was shot by Johnson, the bullet piercing her left breast and lung.

Reports from the hospital this morning said the girl had slightly improved during the night and she is expected to live.

Notes found in Johnson's clothes indicated that he had hoped to arrange a suicide agreement. The girl, however, told police that she had no knowledge of the note to which her name as well as her admirer's had been signed.

HOOPER IS HOPEFUL CUT IN INCOME TAX CAN BE CONTINUED

HOOPER IS HOPEFUL CUT IN INCOME TAX CAN BE CONTINUED

No Ground for Reports Deficit Impends That Will Prevent It, He Says After Conference With Mellon.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—President Hoover after conferences with Secretary Mellon and Undersecretary Mills today took a hopeful view that the emergency reduction in income tax applying this year may be continued next year.

Discussing the tax situation Mr. Hoover said:

"I have reviewed the present fiscal situation with Secretary Mellon and Undersecretary Mills, and I can state that there is no ground for the reports that a deficit was impending this morning that would prevent the continuation of tax reductions established last year."

"The indications of decreasing revenue and increasing expenses during the past six weeks upon which calculations were very properly based do not take several factors into account."

"Imports and consequently customs receipts have been temporarily reduced because of advanced imports to anticipate the new tariff law. We have been expediting construction expenditures to give the maximum employment in the first nine months of this fiscal year. The calculations as to possible deficits take no account of the receipts from payments on foreign debts, nor the revision of expenditures downward from the estimates of the first of last July, which were then placed at $4,200,000,000 (including the postal deficit)."

"I have not as yet received reports from all of the departments of the result of their drive for economies but from the results already obtained in the departments that have reported, we have an indicated reduction of about $75,000,000 in expenditures."

"In such reductions it must be borne in mind that of the total estimated governmental expenditures, approximately $2,200,000,000 are for such fixed charges as interest and redemption of the public debt, payment of pensions, etc., no part of it can be reduced by administrative action. The field of economy is therefore limited to about $2,000,000,000, of which something like $400,000,000 are commitments for construction work of one kind or another which were increased and must be maintained in order to maintain employment."

Previously Secretary of the Treasury Mellon had issued a formal statement saying:

"The revenue during the fiscal year 1931 will be reduced as compared with that of the fiscal year 1930, but it should not be forgotten that we closed the latter year with a substantial surplus. While no one should definitely promise at this time that the 1 per cent that the 1 per cent tax reduction granted the last session of Congress can be maintained during the calendar year 1931, I can say that after a careful review of such figures as are available at this time I have a very real hope to make such a recommendation to the Congress in December."

BABY IS FATALLY BURNED IN AUTO CRASH, 3 INJURED

Marcella Luno, 2 Years Old, Victim of Accident on East Side—Parents and Passenger Also Hurt.

GASOLINE IGNITED IN REAR-END COLLISION

Sudden Stop in Heavy Traffic Causes Car to Hit the One Preceding It, Driver Says.

A 2-year-old girl, held in her mother's arms as they rode in the back seat of an automobile, was fatally burned last night when struck from the rear by another machine on the Collinsville road just north of the Ninth street subway in East St. Louis.

The gasoline tank on the rear of the machine in which they were riding was broken by the impact and a spark from the crash of metal is thought to have ignited the gasoline which sprayed over the occupants.

The child, Marcella Luno, died early today at St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis. Her mother, Mrs. Folead Luno, was badly burned. Daniel Luno, Fairmont City laborer, the father, and John Long, 915 (rear) Winstanley avenue, East St. Louis, driver of the automobile, suffered minor burns.

Both machines were being driven toward East St. Louis in heavy traffic. Harold Reinhardt, 620 Ohio avenue, East St. Louis, said he was unable to avoid striking Long's machine when it stopped suddenly as the line of traffic halted.

CLOSED RYAN AIRCRAFT PLANT BOUGHT BY PHIL DE C. BALL

Sale Does Not Include Manufacturing Rights for Planes, Future Use of Property Undecided.

The plant of the Ryan Aircraft Corporation, makers of Col. Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis," at Lambert-St. Louis Field, which was closed Aug. 1 because of business depression, has been purchased by Phil de C. Ball, aviation enthusiast and owner of the St. Louis Browns. Ball bought the property from the Detroit Aircraft Corporation, in which he is a stockholder.

The purchase includes the building and machinery, and does not involve the manufacturing rights for Ryan planes, which will be made at Detroit. Ball said that he has no immediate plans for using the factory.

"I just bought it, and expect to put it to work some day, but I have no idea what the use will be," Ball explained. He declined to discuss the purchase price.

The factory was built in 1927 after Ball, Harold Gatty and Harry H. Knight, the latter two prominent among Lindbergh's backers, bought a controlling interest in the original Mahoney-Ryan Co., and transferred the manufacture of Ryan planes from San Diego, Cal., to St. Louis. In May, last year, stockholders voted to sell the company's assets to the Detroit Aircraft Corporation. The transaction represented a consideration of $2,000,000 and was consummated largely through a transfer of stock.

Since Col. Lindbergh's trans-Atlantic flight Ball has used a Ryan plane for business and pleasure trips. He employs a personal pilot, and recently bought his third airplane.

book establishment, admitted under questioning his story was not true, according to police.

McCormick said he had taken wagers from friends who gave him IOUs and failed to make them good and was afraid to tell his employer, Gene Stone, 1216 Pine street, according to the police report.

CAPITALIST DENIES HE CAUSED SUIT TO BAR STEEL MERGER

Cyrus S. Eaton, Cross-Examined, Disclaims Personal Responsibility for the Injunction Action.

By the Associated Press.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 22. — Cyrus S. Eaton denied in cross examination today that he personally caused International Shares Corporation to file the suit for an injunction against the Youngstown Sheet & Tube-Bethlehem Steel merger or that he had underwritten the expenses of the action.

The Cleveland capitalist, who testified yesterday that he and his companies had purchased $11,000,000 worth of Sheet & Tube stock in an effort to halt the merger, was turned over to the defense this morning when Attorney Luther Day of plaintiff's counsel, announced there would be no more direct examination.

The first question asked witness by Newton D. Baker, of defense counsel, was: "Did you cause these suits to be brought?" "No," answered Eaton.

"You are chairman of the Board of International Shares?" "Yes," "Did you cause that company to become a party plaintiff?" "I cooperated with my fellow directors in causing the suit to be brought," Eaton answered.

The next question brought the answer that the Executive Committee of International Shares decided by resolution to file the suit. Eaton said he did not underwrite the expenses but discussed that matter with his associates.

"The statement was made by Mr. Mandelbaum and Mr. Burwell that they would be willing that International Shares stand its proportionate amount of expenses incurred, but they would be free to judge the expenses submitted," Eaton testified.

"I said I hoped a good many of the desecrating stockholders would join in the expenses, but if they did not do this voluntarily I would bear their share."

"Isn't that part near underwriting?" asked Baker.

Judge David Jenkins interposed that he would form that conclusion himself.

The cross-examination turned to the formation of Eaton's committee to obtain anti-merger proxies. Eaton said he advised Philip Schaff, Youngstown broker, to form the committee and to give information to stockholders after Schaff had told him that the people of Youngstown were "frantically opposed to the merger and distressed and sick at the thought of it."

Baker produced a statement showing that the expenses of the anti-merger fight up to July 30 had been $62,982.52. Eaton admitted this was correct. He also said that he paid "every penny of it."

Why He Opposed Deal With Bethlehem Company.

Eaton told from the witness stand yesterday why he opposed the Bethlehem deal and how he had worked for more than a year to merge Inland Steel of Chicago with Youngstown.

In describing his first intimation that a deal between Youngstown and Bethlehem had been arranged he used such terms as "shocked" and "astounded." He said he was told of the deal at a meeting in Cleveland on March 7 less than two months after he had held a conference with L. E. and Paul Block of Inland Steel and had received assurance that a merger with that company might be effected.

Eaton testified that he had been working on the Inland negotiations largely at the suggestion of J. A. Campbell, chairman of Youngstown Sheet and Tube, and was "astonished" to learn that in the meanwhile an audit had been made and merger terms had been drawn up with Bethlehem.

TWO KILLED WHEN SHIP BURNS IN GULF OF ST. LAWRENCE

Four Men, Seriously Injured, Taken From Hulk Off Prince Edward Island.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., Aug. 22.—Two men were taken dead from the sea and four others were rescued in a serious collision from an unidentified ship, whose hulk, burned to the water's edge, lay eight miles off the village of Mimminigait in the Gulf of St. Lawrence today.

Residents of Mimminigait, an isolated settlement on the western tip of Prince Edward Island, went to the rescue in gasoline launches when the ship, in flames, was sighted. One of the dead men had been drowned and the other burned. Those rescued were suffering from severe burns.

Wife Suing Bruce Bairnsfather.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Charles Bruce Bairnsfather, internationally famous cartoonist and playwright, is being sued for separation by Mrs. Cecilia Bairnsfather. It became known today that her lawyers also are seeking Constance Collier, the actress, armed with a subpoena to appear in a $100,000 alienation of affections suit. Miss Collier and Bairnsfather collaborated in a play last year. During the World War Bairnsfather's comic soldier character, "Old Bill," appeared in European and American newspapers.

RECLUSE MILLIONAIRE LUMBER DEALER DIES

C. F. Ruggles Had Spent Years in Modest Room at Manistee, Mich.

By the Associated Press.

MANISTEE, Mich., Aug. 22.—Charles F. Ruggles, the last of the Michigan lumber magnates, died last night in a plain little room where he had lived for years, preparing his own meals, scrubbing the floors and spending hours making candy for distribution to children at Christmas time.

Ruggles, at 84, died a multi-millionaire, but there was little difference in his mode of life during his last days from that of his youth when he saw the opportunities in Northern Michigan's forests. When his contemporaries in the industry went to the cities years ago and built fine homes, he remained behind, living as he always had lived, wearing moccasins and a lumber-jack shirt, with no necktie beneath his long white beard.

When lumbering ended in Michigan, he turned to salt manufacturing and until last Saturday, when he was stricken, was active every work day. He bought into the lumber industry in other states—Minnesota, the Carolinas, Florida and California—and much of the large estate he left is represented in these holdings.

Poisoned in Match Factory.

Ruggles was born in Bangor, Me., on March 2, 1846. His parents took him to Oshkosh, Wis., where he worked in a match factory as a youth. The family moved to Manistee because the youth was suffering from phosphenous poisoning and a physician recommended outdoor life. This led him to become interested in lumber.

He never married, but the place of wife and children appeared to have been filled for him by friendships. He financed Edward Buckley, his brother-in-law, in lumber mill deals years ago, and later took as his clerk and protégé John F. Rademaker, who was associated with him for 40 years.

Manistee was startled last winter by a break between the two men which came to light in a suit for $5,000,000 against Ruggles filed by Rademaker. Property rights in many joint enterprises were separated in a dissolution of partnership, after that Ruggles carried on with his salt business.

Interested in World Affairs.

The strange life he led did not prevent Ruggles from taking an interest in the affairs of the world. Two years ago it was disclosed through a letter from the late Chief Justice William Howard Taft that Ruggles in 1912 provided funds to organize and support the American Judiciary Society in an effort to help "prevent delays of the law."

Two doctors and four employees were at the bedside. Shortly before he had directed that his funeral be held Saturday afternoon with no religious ceremony and that his body be taken to Oshkosh to rest in a mausoleum beside the bodies of his father and mother.

DRIVING THROUGH LEFT-TURN LANES HELD TRAFFIC VIOLATION

Assistant City Counselor Sent to Rules in Opinion to Police;
Arrests to Continue.

Motorists who drive through left-turn lanes at street intersections violate the city traffic code, although the code does not specifically forbid this practice, Acting City Counselor Sent to police yesterday in an opinion requested by Police Capt. John Y. Goodin of the traffic division.

Sent stated that, in his opinion, the Board of Aldermen in establishing the traffic code meant to reserve left turn lanes exclusively for traffic making left turns because to permit straight traffic to use the lane would defeat the purpose of the ordinance, which was to speed up and facilitate traffic.

Police have been arresting persons driving straight through left-turn lanes and will continue to do so, Capt. Goodin said.

FOUR LIQUOR RAIDS MADE BY U. S. AGENTS ON EAST SIDE

Sills and Alcohol Seized in Collinsville, Granite City and Mount Olive.

Prohibition agents from Springfield, Ill., seized a still, 20,000 gallons of whiskey mash and some illicit alcohol in a raid at 712 Henry street, Collinsville, today. The raid was one of several conducted in Madison County by the Springfield enforcement unit. Joe Chiallino, alleged operator of the place, was arrested.

Last night the agents seized home brew at the establishments of Irene Sroka, 2100 East Twentieth street, Granite City, and Walter Lebschner of Mount Olive. Both were arrested. At the home of Tony Rice, 2640 East Thirteenth street, Granite City, they reported finding a 75-gallon still, 450 gallons of mash and 10 gallons of alcohol.

ARRAIGNED ON ARSON CHARGE

JACKSON, Mo., Aug. 22.—John Minor of the Oriole vicinity was held under $500 bond, returnable to court on or following a preliminary hearing here today before Justice John G. Puts on a charge of arson. In default of bond he was placed in the county jail.

Minor was arrested at his home by deputy sheriff Adam Hoffman after charges against him had been sworn to by Mrs. Fannie Spraker, wife of Jack S. Spraker of Oriole, Mo., whose residence Minor was charged with setting fire to and attempting to burn.

SUES SHELL CORPORATION FOR COMMISSION ON SALES

Rudolf A. Goerts Charges He Obtained Contract for His Firm, Bought Out by Defendant.

Suit against the Shell Petroleum Corporation was filed today in Circuit Court for an accounting on fuel oil delivered under contract of the Automobile Gasoline Co. to pay Rudolf A. Goerts of 2456 Magnolia avenue a 1/4 cent a gallon commission on business obtained by him.

Goerts asked that the accounting cover such business from Sept. 7, when Shell bought out his employers, to May 31, when his contract expired. His attorney, Albert Miller, who estimated the commissions amounted to $10,000, said the Shell corporation held that the purchase did not transfer the obligations of such contracts as Goerts', which remained with the Automobile Gasoline Co.

3 WOMAN DERBY FLYERS FORCED TO LAND IN STORM

Mrs. Ruth Stewart of St. Louis and Two Others Down Temporarily on Amarillo-Enid Stretch.

By the Associated Press.

ENID, Ok., Aug. 22.—After braving heavy rainstorms between Amarillo and Enid, all six contestants in the Long Beach-Chicago women's air derby arrived here by 1 p. m. today.

Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell of Long Beach, Cal., landed at 10:37:50, having taken off at Amarillo at 9:01. Miss Marjory Dolg of Danbury, Conn., came in at 10:54:15 and Miss Ruth Barron of Hollywood at 11:21:39 in a heavy rain.

Mildred Morgan of Beverly Hills, Cal., was forced down at three and a half miles southwest of Enid, and Jene La Rene of Kansas City landed four miles south of Waukomis, but came here later.

Mrs. Ruth Stewart of St. Louis battled her way through and landed at the airport at 12:36:30, ahead of Jene La Rene.

The six flyers took off this afternoon beginning at 2:31 for Wichita, Kan., the night stop.

Mrs. Stewart said she had been forced down near Elk City, in Western Oklahoma, after swerving south of her course to avoid a rainstorm. She landed in a cornfield. Farmers assisted her in moving the plane into a position for a takeoff, and she took the air again from the cornfield, bumping violently over the rows.

Mrs. O'Donnell gained nearly a half hour over her nearest competitor, Miss Dolg, because of the rain, and widened her lead to almost one hour.

Mrs. O'Donnell averaged nearly 170 miles an hour from Lubbock, Tex., to Amarillo yesterday. Her elapsed time totaling 42 minutes and 11 seconds for the 120 miles. Mrs. O'Donnell won both legs of yesterday's flight, flying from Roswell, N. M., to Lubbock in 1 hour, 8 minutes and 41 seconds.

Unofficial elapsed time of the entrants last night was: Mrs. O'Donnell, 2:04:52; Miss Marjory Dolg, Danbury, Conn., 2:19:54; Jean La Rene, Kansas City, 11:01:01; Mildred Morgan, Beverly Hills, Cal., 11:14:28; Ruth Stewart, St. Louis, 12:36:30; Ruth Barron, Hollywood, 25:57:51.

Woman Flyers Take Off at Washington in Dixie Derby.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Mrs. Phoebe Omile was first of the six entrants in the women's Dixie Air Derby to land here this afternoon, bringing her plane down at 2:38:07 to complete the second lap of the flight. Her time from Richmond was 55 minutes. She was followed by Miss Vera Dawn Walker, whose time was 59 minutes 15 seconds.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Six women flyers, three carrying luck pieces, took off today from the Washington airport on the first leg of the Dixie Air Derby. Their first stop was Richmond.

The flyers, in the order of their minute-apart take-offs, were: Mrs. Phoebe Omile of Memphis; Mrs. Vera D. Walker of Los Angeles; Mrs. Marie Bowman of Los Angeles; Miss Laura Ingalls of St. Louis; Miss Nancy Hopkins of Washington, and Mrs. Charty Langdon of Norfolk, Va. They are due to reach Chicago Tuesday.

Mrs. Omile led the flyers into Richmond. Her time was 38 minutes.

Mrs. Omile carried with her a silver rabbit's foot, Mrs. Walker a rubber horseshoe and Miss Hopkins "the left hind leg of a graveyard rabbit."

RELATIVES SEEK HANDBAG LEFT BY KANSAS EDITOR

It Contained Personal Papers of C. J. Griffith Who Died at City Hospital.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Confederate veteran, editor, inventor and Kansas pioneer, who died July 16 at the City Hospital here, are seeking a small black handbag in which Griffith was known to have carried his personal papers.

According to V. Rector Griffith of Wichita, Kan., the bag contained papers of value only to the family, which has been able to learn only that before Griffith's death he told a friend his bag was "in a safe place."

Griffith had lived in St. Louis for 40 years and had developed a patented metal railroad tie and a crossing frog. Born in Virginia in 1846 he edited a magazine at Richmond before moving to Kansas, where he founded the El Dorado Democrat and dealt in real estate.

Griffith's widow and two sons reside in Wichita. At his own request he was buried in St. Matthew's Cemetery here.

Earthquake in Portuguese Village.

By the Associated Press.

PROENCA A NOVA, Portugal, Aug. 22.—The population of this village was thrown into panic by an earthquake today. People ran into the streets in fear. There were no casualties. Furniture was rocked and crockery broken. Reports from the town of Berta said that sharp earth shocks accompanied by subterranean rumblings were felt there.

SMITH DENIES MAKING POLITICAL PREDICTION

Says Message Signed With His Name Was Not Sent by Him.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Former
Gov. Alfred E. Smith last night denied issuing a statement attributed to him in which he was quoted as predicting that the Democratic party "will soon be in national control and make this a happy as well as prosperous nation."

The statement, in the form of a telegram, was purported to have been sent to the Joel Parker Association, a political organization, at its annual outing Wednesday at West Orange, N. J. It was published in the metropolitan press and elsewhere.

The denial, issued from Mr.
Smith's office here, was as follows:

"Former Gov. Smith and his office have no knowledge of the telegram supposedly under his signature by the Joel Parker Association at West Orange, N. J., on Wednesday.

"On Aug. 18 former Gov. Smith received a printed invitation to attend the outing of this association and under date of Aug. 19 sent the following letter to Thomas E. Curran, secretary of the association at 213 Van Buren street, Newark:
"Dear Mr. Curran: Former Gov.
Smith has received your invitation to attend the reunion and dinner on Aug. 20. The Governor has asked me to tell you that because of a previous engagement he will be unable to attend. Yours very truly, Mary Carr, secretary."
"Former Gov. Smith points out that while he is not in disagreement with the sentiment expressed in the telegram, he cannot let this instance of misrepresentation of his name pass by. It is his belief, however, that the officials of the Joel Parker Association acted in good faith."

Thinks Practical Joker Sent Bogus Telegram.

By the Associated Press.
NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 22.—William J. Egan, Director of Public Safety, said last night he received the telegram, purporting to be from Alfred E. Smith, which was read to 2000 Democrats at the outing of the Joel Parker Association.

It was sent from a telegraph office in New York Tuesday night and was delivered to Egan during a conference at city hall Wednesday morning. It was signed "Alfred E. Smith." Egan said he believed the wire must have been sent "by some practical joker."

PLEADS GUILTY OF THREE HOLDUPS, GETS 10 YEARS

Ralph Brindley, Mechanic, Robbed
Two Jewelry Stores and Soft Drink Parlors.

Ralph Brindley, 27 years old, a mechanic, 1500 Montgomery street, pleaded guilty to three charges of robbery with a deadly weapon and was sentenced to serve 10 years on each by Circuit Judge Green today.
The sentences will run concurrently.

Brindley several months ago held up the jewelry stores of George F.

nue, and Walter A. Kaffenberger, 2907 North Newstead avenue, and

ARRESTED 74TH TIME, NEGRO ADMITS THEFT

Buster Hardin Held for Stealing Hats From Grand Boulevard Store.

Miss Jane Staniel, in charge of the Sauter Millinery Co., 413 North Grand boulevard, discovered nine women's hats had been stolen from the store yesterday after the 74th arrest of Buster Hardin, a Negro.

Hardin and another Negro were stopped for questioning by detectives as they drove past Channing avenue and Morgan street. The detectives found the hats and 21 pairs of silk hose. Labels in the hats indicated they had come from the Sauter firm.

Miss Staniel identified the property and the Negro, recalling that he had asked her for an empty box and had left while she was in the rear of the store. Police are trying to determine where Hardin got the hose.

Dripping his truck in the 3100 block of Morganford road, Harvey B. Hutchison, a chauffeur for the Carlstrom Cheese Co., 510 North Second street, was robbed of $124 by an armed man who held a handkerchief to his face. The truck was recovered at Arsenal street and Russell place.

Elisha Ratley, attendant at a filling station at 239 South Vandeventer avenue, was held up for $75 by two men.

Lorin Gowin was robbed of $42 by an armed man who accosted him in front of his home at 4032 Connecticut street.

A plate glass window costing $250 was broken at the jewelry store of Frank Turshin, 1429 Market street, and seven rings valued at $215 were taken. Witnesses said the window was broken by two Negroes with a brick.

SOUTH AMERICAN AIR LINE

TAKEN OVER BY U. S. FIRM

Pan-American Adds 5000 Miles of Routes to Its System by This Purchase.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—The greatest commercial air transport consolidation ever made was arranged yesterday when the Pan-American Airways System purchased the flying equipment, South American bases and technical material of the New York, Rio & Buenos Aires Lines, Inc. This consolidation will create an all-American air line circling South America.

The purchase will lead to the extension by Pan-American Airways system of passenger service from Paramaribo along the east coast of South America to Rio de Janeiro, Santos, Montevideo and Buenos Aires, and will add to the Pan-American system 8000 miles of routes formerly operated by Nyria in Brazil, Uruguay and Argentina.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will make a good will flight to South America this fall. Unlike his 1927 flight to Central America, it will have no connection with the Pan-American Airways, of which he is the technical adviser, but will be made in response to repeated invitations from South American countries.

DEATH IN LEAP ACCIDENTAL

This Is Verdict in Case of Woman Who Jumped From Auto.

A coroner's verdict of accident was returned today in the case of Mrs. Anna Cory, 39 years old, 2149A Russell boulevard, who died at City Hospital early yesterday of a fractured skull suffered Wednesday midnight when she jumped from a machine driven by her husband, Thomas A. Cory, a chauffeur.

Cory testified that he and his wife quarreled when he insisted on driving into St. Louis County to drink beer, instead of taking her home. Mrs. Cory leaped from the machine at Broadway and Bates street and died without making a statement.

Anti-Semitic Raids in Rumania. ## "CAP" HATFIELD, LAST OF THE FEUDISTS, DIES

"Devil Anse's" Son, Shot at 300 Times, Succumbs With Boots Off.

By the Associated Press. BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 22.—William Anderson Hatfield familiarly known as "Cap," the last of the Hatfield-McCoy feudists of West Virginia and Kentucky, died today at a hospital here. He was 67 years old.

He was brought here a few days ago from his Logan, W. Va., home, suffering from a brain ailment that had no connection with a wound suffered in the long feud war of a half century ago which took many lives. His father, Anderson Hatfield, known as "Devil Anse," died in 1911, near 80.

With the younger Hatfield when he died were his wife, a son and a daughter.

"Cap" Hatfield was a large, powerful man. He once confided to friends that many of his old time enemies believed he had a charmed life. He "guessed" he was shot at about 300 times during the mountain warfare and was wounded only once.

Hatfield was an entertaining conversationalist, but refused in later years when the facts of the most notorious of American feuds became obscured by time to outline an authentic account of the events that made a blood page in American history.

One account was that the feud started with a quarrel over the ownership of some dogs. The Hatfields lived on the West Virginia side of the Tug River, the McCoy on the Kentucky side. A law suit resulted from the dog dispute and several years later in 1880, the fighting started with the killing of Bill Statton, a member of the Hatfield clan.

"Cap" Hatfield was born Feb. 6, 1864, in Logan County. He was taught to read by his wife, who was Mrs. Nancy Smith Glenn, and in his later years became an extensive reader, especially of historical matter. He encouraged his children to obtain the formal education he never had.

Many of feud figures lived to become peace officers. "Cap" was a Deputy Sheriff for a number of years, serving under two brothers, one J. D. Hatfield, being the present Logan County Sheriff. "Cap" was a cousin of United States Senator Henry D. Hatfield of West Virginia.

During the feud days, when he lived for weeks along the mountain ridges between the Tug and Guyan Rivers, "Cap" would carry a book or two along with him to occupy his hours. So eager was he for knowledge that he pursued a correspondence course in law after reaching middle age, and was admitted to the bar but he never practiced.

His children were Coleman A. Hatfield, member of the Logan County Bar, who came with him to the hospital here; L. W. Hatfield, Logan County Justice of the Peace; Robert Hatfield, civil engineer and Deputy Sheriff; Mrs. Charles A. Carter, Miami, Fla., and Flossie and Muriel Hatfield, teachers at Logan.

"Cap" had been ill about two months at his home before being brought to Johns Hopkins Hospital here. His daughter, Flossie, also accompanied him here.

LINA BASQUETTE, ACTRESS, IS SUED FOR DIVORCE

Husband of Dancer Who Tried to Kill Himself Recently, Charges Jealousy.

By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 22.—Lina Basquette, dancer and screen actress, who recently tried to kill herself, was sued for divorce yesterday by F. Everett Marley, film cameraman. Marley charged jealousy, alleging that at a party, May 10, Miss Basquette threatened to slap a girl with whom he was dancing. He said, further, she objected to his work because it brought him in contact with other women. They were married Jan. 7, 1929, and separated June 14, 1930.

When Miss Basquette drank poison two weeks ago because of loneliness for her 4-year-old daughter, Lita, adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Warner of New York, Marley visited her at the hospital and tried to effect a reconciliation. Miss Basquette is the widow of Sam Warner of the Warner Brothers Pictures Corporation.

AXES USED IN LIQUOR RAID

Pictures in Six Places Ruined by Anderson (Ind.) Police.

By the Associated Press. ANDERSON, Ind., Aug. 22.—Sledge hammers and axes were used by Anderson police yesterday in an attempt to put a stop to liquor traffic in the city. They destroyed hundreds of dollars worth of fixtures in six alleged speakeasies.

Acting under orders of Mayor Jesse H. Mellett, who said the city had "grown tired of depending on the search warrant to find liquor," policemen reduced to ruin costly bars and smashed showcases and counters. Large crowds followed the police from place to place. All the places raided were padlocked.

U. S. ASKS FOR REPORT ON MANGANESE COSTS

American Producers Seeking Russian Embargo Requested to Compare Expenses.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Domestic producers of manganese were told by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lowman today they must submit comparative figures on the production costs of manganese here and in Russia before the Treasury would act on proposals to place an embargo on the ore from Russia.

The notice was given at a hearing on a complaint filed by the American Manganese Producers' Association, which charged the iron and steel industry was violating provisions of the antidumping act of 1921.

J. Carson Adkerson, president of the association, in a statement read at the hearing said: "It is clearly indicated that Russian manganese is being dumped on the American market."

"Therefore," he continued, "the American Manganese Producers' Association asks the Secretary of the Treasury to withhold the appraisers' report and liquidation of entries of Russian manganese until the amount of additional dumping duty, properly chargeable under the antidumping act of 1921 shall have been ascertained and assessed."

"The American manganese industry is being wrecked by the ruthless dumping program of Soviet Russia, whereby convict or forced labor is being used in the production of manganese sold in America without regard to sales prices or cost of production."

"Soviet agents in the United States have offered to undersell any American producer of manganese ore, regardless of what price the American producer may quote."

Test for Washington Police

An open competitive examination will be held to fill vacancies on the Washington, D. C., police force. Applications will be received by the United States Civil Service Commission until Sept. 9 and may be obtained here at the district office in the Old Custom House, Third and Olive streets. The pay of a patrolman is $1900 a year and after five years he may advance to $2400. Each patrolman gets a 20-day annual leave and a 30-day sick leave.

DRY AGENT SUSPENDED, POSED AS ROBBER

Wilbur R. Dillworth Was Recently Attacked—Big Auto Attracted Attention.

Wilbur R. Dillworth, a Federal prohibition agent who used a Packard automobile in his investigations, and who, according to reports, posed as a fugitive robber to allay the suspicions of the bootleggers, has been suspended from the prohibition service pending an investigation of his acts, Prohibition Administrator George Wark said today.

Dillworth, who joined the local enforcement unit April 1 last, returned to his home in Lakewood, N. J., the latter part of last month after he had been severely beaten by two men in an alley near Sixteenth and Locust streets. He told Deputy Prohibition Administrator Dillworth at that time that he had been knocked unconscious and suffered a broken jaw.

Dillworth is the second Federal dry agent to face charges in recent weeks. James A. Barr, formerly an inspector in the Department of Industrial Alcohol, was forced to resign last month after he had confessed taking money from three druggists to make favorable reports on their disposal of medicinal liquor.

Wark, speaking over long distance telephone from his office in Kansas City, declined to disclose the nature of the charges against Dillworth. However, it was learned the charge, if sustained, would involve merely an infraction of departmental rules.

Dillworth told other agents who asked about his use of a Packard automobile, that it was his personal property and had been purchased for him by his mother.

JACKSON-O'BRIEN EARNINGS EXPECTED TO REACH $50,000

This includes Public Subscription of $3324; Three Contributions of $1000 Each.

A statement covering the public subscriptions for their record endurance flight was issued today by Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brien. The statement shows receipts of $3224.98 and expenditures of $4747.77, leaving the flyers a balance of $3577.21. The largest contributors were Maj. Albert Bond Lambert, Phil Dec. Ball and the Pevely Dairy Co., each giving $1000.

Since landing, after 27 days in the air, the flyers have spent their time reading the mail, writing autographs and preparing for a tour of state fairs, starting with the Missouri State fair tomorrow. Contracts for fair appearances total $27,000, according to the flyers' manager, who will receive 25 per cent. The flyers earned $8800 while in the air, and received an additional $2000 in advertising awards after landing, bringing the total of the actual and prospective earnings to about $50,000.

When he landed O'Brien learned that the plastering in his new home in Ferguson had cracked, forcing him and his wife to find temporary quarters for two weeks during repairs.

STUMP BLOWN INTO HOUSE

Woman Complains of Blasting on North Broadway.

Mrs. John Hirschboeck, 6414A North Broadway, complained to police yesterday of blasting to remove tree stumps on property adjoining hers. One of the stumps was blown through a window of her home, carrying away the sash, damaging the furniture, and frightening her, she complained.

The Schaefer Construction Co., which is doing the work, has offered to pay for repairs, police report.

SHARTEL ASKED TO AID IN YOUNG PROSECUTION

Attorney-General Promises to Send Assistant to Trial at Chillicothe, Mo.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHILLICOTHE, Mo., Aug. 22.—Attorney-General Sharitel has been asked to assist in the criminal prosecution here of the three Young brothers—William, Fred and Harold—charged in 15 warrants with obtaining money by false pretenses and fraud in the conduct of the defunct W. H. Young & Co., St. Louis brokerage house.

Prosecuting Attorney Shy, who made the request, said today that Sharitel had promised to send an assistant to aid in the trial, now set for the September term.

Sharitel, a week after his appointment to that office by Gov. Baker in June, 1928, became the Jefferson City attorney for William H. Young & Bros., Inc., and continued in the firm's employ until June, 1929, when he resigned. His resignation was tendered about six weeks before the St. Louis Better Business Bureau began to urge State Securities Commissioner Stockard to investigate the company's practices. He accepted $2000 in fees.

Sharitel has said, he did not perform any services for the fee, that he had no knowledge of the nature of securities promoted by Young Bros. and never sought favors for them in Jefferson City. Investors in the Young firm, which had headquarters in St. Louis, lost more than $2,000,000.

TRIBUTE LEVIED ON NEW YORK FLOUR DEALERS

Witnesses at State Investigation of Food Prices Tell of Collections From Jobbers and Truckmen.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Witnesses testified today that Daniel Richter "muscled in" as head man of associations virtually controlling the flour business in New York, levied tribute on both jobbers and truckmen and when his mandates were disregarded, punishment was meted out by gangsters armed with iron bars.

Richter was called to the stand by Deputy Attorney-General William B. Groat Jr., who is conducting the State investigation into food prices, but refused to waive immunity and so was not examined. When the hearing opened Groat cleared the room in the Attorney-General's office on the ground that a previous witness had been intimidated in the room.

Told to Keep Still.
"This witness was told to keep his mouth shut just before he took the stand," Groat said. "I don't know yet who it was that threatened him and I won't put the witness on the stand to question him because he has told me he fears for his life."

The intimidation is thought to have been in connection with investigation into an alleged boycott of Utah eggs by jobbers and their truckmen.

First direct evidence of actual violence in connection with the food trade came when Jacob Green, owner of a Brooklyn trucking business delivering flour from jobbers to bakers took the stand. His head was shaved on top and the bald circle was crossed by a long wound.

Beaten by Five Men.
Green said he had been a member of a truckmen's association and Richter had attended a meeting and made himself the controlling factor. After that each member was charged $5 a month for each truck and at last an additional levy was imposed of one cent for each barrel of flour carried. Green said he refused to pay this tribute and Richter told him if he did not pay he would not be responsible for what happened.

Green maintained his right to withdraw from the organization and last week five men called at his office and beat him with iron bars, he said.

Truckmen and jobbers testified about Richter's organization of both branches of the business and said that increased retail prices were the result, the members passing along their association dues to the consumer.

WOMAN FALLS 7 STORIES TO HER DEATH IN CHICAGO

Mrs. Carol Carleton, Daughter of Mississippi Cotton Mill Owner, Drops From Roof Garden.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Mrs. Carol Carleton, 24-year-old widow and daughter of J. P. Ledyard, Tupelo, Miss., cotton miller, fell seven stories to her death yesterday from the roof garden of the Bethany Girls' Home, a boarding house. The fall was said to have been accidental.

Her body, clad in a red dressing robe, landed in the concrete court and was unobserved for an hour until her absence was noticed and a search begun.

Miss Rose Trimmer, matron, told police she was convinced the woman did not jump. She said she had been resting in preparation for an operation for appendicitis, and several times lately had suffered fainting spells. It was the matron's belief she had gone too near the edge of the roof and had toppled over in a faint.

Mrs. Carleton had been employed as a lingerie saleswoman for a loop department store and had lived at the home for four years. Her husband died four years ago.

UNIVERSITY CITY TO PAVE DELMAR DESPITE INJUNCTION

Aldermen Award Contract; Notice of Suit Served Too Late, Mayor Ruth Says.

The contract for repaving Delmar boulevard with asphalt concrete, from Big Bend road to Vassar avenue, University City, has been awarded by the University City Aldermen to the Webb-Boone Paving Co., on its low bid of $15,541.12, despite an injunction issued Monday by Circuit Judge Mulloy against awarding the contract.

Property owners along Delmar had petitioned against the repaving but the injunction, according to Mayor Ruth, was not served in time to halt action on the award. The Mayor said work will proceed at once and will be finished in October. The new street is to be 56 feet wide from curb to curb. The successful bid was about $3000 under the city's estimate of what the repaving should cost.

Illinois Zinc Mine Strike.
By the Associated Press.
LA SALLE, Ill., Aug. 22.—In a protest against wage cuts, about 20 per cent, 200 furnace men at the St. Elmo zinc mine quit work today, joining 200 others who left yesterday.

Shoots Woman by Accident, Kills Self.
By the Associated Press.
GALT, Ont., Aug. 21.—Shooting at tin cans on the farm of David Main, where he was employed, Thomas Oelman, 18 years old, struck Mrs. Main when she walked from behind a shed. She was not fatally hurt, but Oelman did not wait to learn that. He turned the rifle on himself and fired, wounding himself so seriously that he died a few hours later Wednesday night.

WASHINGTON U. TO NOTE EFFECT OF DEPRESSION

To Determine If Trade Slump Will Increase or Decrease Enrollment.

Washington University authorities are awaiting registration Sept. 18 to determine what effect the country's economic situation will have on enrollments.

"Many youths who counted upon summer jobs to help them through school," said one dean, "were unable to find work and may be unable to finance their college courses.

"On the other hand, there is a well-defined group of young men who normally would go away to school, but whose parents feel like retrenching by permitting them to attend college here and live at home. It may be this group will offset those who were unable to obtain money this summer. Still others, of moderate means, who planned to enter business, may decide to attend college for lack of a suitable opening at the present time."

Until the term opens it will not be possible to determine whether as many part-time jobs will be open to men students who are working their way through as formerly.

Preparations are underway now for registration. Blanks are being prepared and courses outlined. There was a total of 7935 registrations in all schools last year.

Washington University will have eight new psychology laboratories this fall on the ground floor of Cupples Hall No. 1. Several lounge rooms for men have been prepared on the first floor of Lee Hall. A road has been built from Francis Field to the fraternity houses and other roads have been improved.

Five Calves Born to Holstein.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—A litter of five calves was born to a Holstein cow owned by Mrs. Josephine Hoyt of Greenville, N. Y., near Port Jervis, this week. Although but one of the five was born alive, it seems to be healthy and every effort is being put forth to raise it. Dairymen say that triplet calves are born occasionally, but it is very unusual for a cow to give birth to four or five.

RESTAURANT OWNER FINED ON SLOT MACHINE CHARGE

Louis Esselwas is second of 15 Merchants Penalties for Permitting Gambling.

Louis Esselwas pleaded guilty of permitting a gambling device to be set up in his restaurant at 1307 North Grand boulevard today, and was fined $100 by Circuit Judge Green.

Police testified they played a slot machine there last Nov. 20 and that Esselwas redeemed chips with cigarettes. Esselwas is the second to be fined of 15 merchants charged with permitting operation of a gambling device.

Those arrested since Feb. 27, when slot-machines have been found on their premises have been charged with keeping a gambling device, the minimum punishment for which is a 60-day workhouse sentence.

WOMAN SERVING AS JUSTICE OF PEACE

Mrs. Robert Sturdy Takes Post Long Held by Her Father-in-Law, Who Died.

"Justice of the Peace Sturdy," at Valley Park, formerly, meant Jack Sturdy, holder of this and various other offices in the Meramec River town, who died June 18, but now it refers to Mrs. L. Frances Sturdy, wife of his son, Robert, and the first woman to hold such a position in St. Louis County or St. Louis.

For more than a year before her father-in-law's death, Mrs. Sturdy, a former trained nurse, attended to most of the duties of the office for him, while he was ill. He would sign papers, but she would prepare them.

Friends who knew about this, and who realized that cases pending were understood by her, suggested that she seek appointment from the County Court for the remainder of his term, which will expire late this year. Her request was granted on Aug. 7, so she took over the late Judge Sturdy's office. Edward Blinn of Baldwin, incumbent, and Philip R. Rabenau of Kirkwood received the Republican nominations for the two places as Justice of the Peace in Bonhomme Township and anticipate election in November. If neither decided to establish his office in Valley Park, Justice Sturdy may ask the County Court to create a new office of Justice of the Peace for that town and appoint her to it, but she is not particularly desirous of staying on the bench long. A Justice of the Peace hears minor civil suits and handles arraignments and preliminary hearings on traffic and other misdemeanor cases arising in his territory. The Prosecuting Attorney will call at Justice Sturdy's office every two weeks. She has had no civil cases to try yet, but last Monday the arraignment of a plasterer accused of stabbing a service car driver was held before her and he will come before her for hearing on next Wednesday. In September Justice Sturdy will hear a number of suits on accounts, but she is now worrying about how to handle them for she is accustomed to that sort of action. Justice Sturdy believes that the fact she is a woman has no bearing, one way or the other, on her ability to conduct the court. She is 43 years old. Her husband is a Deputy Constable of Bonhomme Township.

SIX ALDERMEN TO INSPECT TRAFFIC IN WESTERN CITIES

Committee to Study Regulations in Seattle, Portland, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Six members of the Legislative Committee of the Board of Aldermen will depart Sunday night for a tour of inspection of Pacific Coast cities, as to their traffic and zoning regulations. Director of Streets and Sewers Brooks has gone to Chicago, the first city on the itinerary, for an advance inquiry into traffic matters, and will meet the committee there and proceed on the tour with it.

The cities to be visited are Chicago, Minneapolis, Seattle, Portland, San Francisco and Los Angeles. Wilbur C. Schwartz, chairman; Martin D. Lohmann, William F. Niederhucke and John Neu Jr., will make the trip. Ralph Eilers, the seventh member of the committee, will not go, as his business requires him to travel elsewhere. Hoefle is Republican nominee for Clerk of the Circuit Court, criminal division, and if elected to that office in November, will resign from the Board of Aldermen by Jan. 1.

A questionnaire on traffic problems has been prepared by Brooks to guide the committee's inquiry, some of the questions relate to excavations by public utility companies and to overloading of vehicles on highways. The tour is expected to cost the city about $2500.

SUNDAY CLOSING INJUNCTION

Temporary Order Issued on Behalf of Delicatessen Shops.

A temporary injunction was issued by Circuit Judge Sprague today restraining police from enforcing the Sunday closing ordinance for grocery stores and meat markets against delicatessen shops. About 270 delicatessen dealers have asked that the injunction be made permanent.

A hearing will be held Sept. 4.

TO BREAK UP SACCO MEETING

Boston Police Bar Memorial Gathering on Common.

By the Associated Press.
BOSTON, Aug. 22.—Police intend to prevent, by force if necessary, a memorial meeting for Sacco and Vanzetti, whose execution in 1927 stirred radicals throughout the world. The meeting is scheduled to be held on Boston Common tonight despite the refusal of Mayor James M. Curley to issue a permit. The International Labor Defense applied for the permit. Harry J. Cantor, communist candidate for Governor, has been billed as the principal speaker. Acting Police Supt. Thomas F. Goode has ordered 100 policemen to be ready at downtown stations to go to the Common should the organization persist in going through with plans. A second memorial meeting, for which a permit has been granted, will be held at the Old South Meeting House under the auspices of the Sacco-Vanzetti Memorial Committee.

Heard for Blocks, Does $200 Damage.

The two-story brick building of the City Bottling Co., 3106 Sheri-many windows in nearby buildings were broken last night when a bomb was exploded against the rear wall of the factory.

The force of the explosion was expended downward, indicating the use of dynamite, and little damage to contents of the building resulted. The blast, heard for blocks, attracted several hundred persons.

William Zemlick, 1614A Clara

he could not explain the attack.
No labor trouble had been experienced, he said, his bottler being a

SMOKE KILLING TREES IN TOWER GROVE PARK

Impossible to Replace Famous Collection, Secretary of the Board Declares.

Tower Grove Park gradually is losing its world famous collection of virtually all trees that would grow in the climate and altitude of St. Louis, because of the smoke evil, C. E. Hutchings, secretary of the Tower Grove Park board, declared in an address over radio station WLL last night in behalf of the Citizens' Smoke Abatement League. There is no possibility of replacing this "priceless collection," he said.

The park and its neighbor,
Shaw's Garden, were left to the community in the will of Henry Shaw. Hutchings continued:

"The greatest foe of trees and plants in the city is smoke, with its concomitants. Shaw's Garden has experienced complete defoliation of many tender plants in a single day, from smoke-fog, and has gradually lost most of its famous evergreen trees. What is Tower Grove Park to do? Its problem is different from that of its neighbor. It is a combination of show place and recreation ground, but more sorely needed than ever before as population becomes denser. It cannot be removed, and the ground is becoming more valuable every day.
Five million dollars would be a conservative estimate of its commercial value."

"There is pleasure in the thought that we have in the park more trees than in many years past, but there is sorrow in the knowledge that we can hope only to see these grow for a few years and then perish. During the past 10 years we have planted trees at the rate of three or four for each older one lost."

"Several hundreds are lost annually but about 1000 are planted each year to take their places.
Pines and other evergreens cannot be replanted with great hope of success. The trees newly planted must be chiefly sycamore, maples and poplars, with a few birches, willows and hardier oaks.
The noble American elm, pride of our nation, is almost a thing of the past, though it has not been abandoned. Blue grass cannot thrive in our smoky atmosphere and will be maintained only by annual planting, or replaced by inferior growths."

FIVE SINGLES AND ERROR GIVE CHICAGO FIVE TALLIES

NEW YORK AT CHICAGO
1100000200 410 4
CHICAGO
50010105X 12121

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—The league-leading Chicago Cubs defeated the second place New York Giants this afternoon to even the series and increase their lead to three games. The score was 12 to 4.

A home run by Lindstrom started the Giants off ahead, but the lead lasted only a few moments, as the Cubs rallied for five tallies, driving Donohue from the hill. Pruetz was second Giant pitcher. Successive singles by Blair, English, Cuyler and Wilson accounted for two tallies. The Ott contributed an error before Donohue was removed. Pruetz retired one man then forced in with a walk and allowed Bell to single for two more before fanning the next two batters.

The Giants picked up an unearned run in the second as Ott drew a pass, and came home when Bell batted Rostk's boundary. Pruetz stopped the Cubs after a walk and an error had put him in trouble.

Two singles in the third failed to get New York any more runs. The arrival of Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes with a group of distinguished British jurists here to attend the American Bar convention attracted the attention of the fans for a moment as they were received by William Wrigley Jr. Then they saw the Cubs go out in order.

The Cubs made their sixth run in the fourth inning with another Giant error aiding them. Jackson batted the ball over Terry's head after English had singled and allowed the runner to reach second. Cuyler brought him home with another single. The fifth was scored with one hit, for the Giants and two for the Cubs.

BETTY NUTHALL REACHES FINAL AFTER A HARD 3-SET MATCH

By the Associated Press.
FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 22.—Bouncing Betty Nuthall, youthful British star and tournament favorite, fought her way to the final round of the American women's tennis championship singles today by winning a slashing match from Marjorie Morrill, American girl from Dedham Mass., in the semifinals, 6-8, 6-4, 6-2.

Miss Nuthall reached the title round for the second time in four seasons. She is the favorite to beat Mrs. Harper, who ranked fifth on the American list last year. In 1927 Miss Nuthall was runner-up to Helen Wills, the present Mrs. Moody, who withdrew from the defense of her crown after winning six out of the last seven tournaments.

A Hard-Struggling Game.
The young rivals began a smashing series of exchanges from the outset and Miss Morrill quickly gained an advantage on her superior control of baseline drives. The American girl was within a point of leading by four games to one in the opening set when she faltered, dropping four straight games as Miss Nuthall, by greater steadiness, romped into a lead, 5-4 and 40-30 in the tenth game.

Facing seemingly certain defeat, Miss Morrill staged a brilliant come-back. Where she had been throwing away advantages previously, she suddenly began to capitalize them, by breaking through Betty's service in the fourteenth game to take the set at 8-6. It was a courageous come-back by Miss Morrill, who was beating Miss Nuthall at the latter's high-speed game. So much so that she scored the astonishing total of 18 place-aces to Betty's six, and four service aces to two.

Mrs. Dueker Wins National Public Parks Tennis Title

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Mrs. Virginia Dueker, St. Louis, today won the women's singles championship in the annual public parks tournament by defeating Mrs. Ruth Martinez, Washington, 3-6, 6-1, 6-3.

Doody Mitchell of Washington won his way into the finals men's championship today by eliminating Thomas Markey, Indianapolis, 6-4, 6-2, 2-6, 6-4.

George Jennings of Chicago, defending champion, will play Mitchell in the finals tomorrow by virtue of his straight set victory this afternoon over Arnold Simons, Louisville, 6-2, 6-3, 6-3.

GENE SARAZEN SHOOTS 69 TO TAKE LEAD IN WESTERN OPEN

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

Baltimore Club Installs Lights For Night Games

By the Associated Press.
BALTIMORE, Aug. 22.—A special dispatch today to the Evening Sun says the announcement that Oriole Park, home of the Baltimore International League baseball team, will be lighted for night baseball and football has been made by George Weiss, general manager of the club.

A contract placed yesterday at Toronto, where the Birds are playing a series, provides that the lighting system be ready for an exhibition game Sept. 4 with the Philadelphia Phillies.

No International League evening games are planned this year, but exhibition games at night with the Philadelphia Phillies and the Cincinnati Reds are scheduled.

Weiss is counting on staging a number of football games under the flood lights at the park this fall.

PEARCE OF AUSTRALIA

AS A THREE LENGTH MARGIN OVER BERESFORD, BRADLEY THIRD

BURLINGTON, Ont., Aug. 22.—The Associated Press. Australia's Olympic champion, added the single scull championship of the British Empire to his list of triumphs yesterday, beating a crack field of three rivals.

Pearce towed the Henley distance of a mile and five-sixteenths in 8 minutes, 23 seconds.

The Leader Rowing Club, of Hamilton, won the 140-pound eight, beating the West Sides of Buffalo and Lacine of Montreal.

The public of Halifax took the international event for fours with the sculler Barge Club of Philadelphia, covering the Henley distance in 10:17.

England won the empire championship for fours without coxswain with Canada second and New Zealand third. The time for the Henley distance was 7 minutes, 10 seconds.

New Zealand took the empire title for fours with coxswain in 6:58, with McGill University of Montreal second and British Guiana third.

Speed and Court-Covering Ability Bring Success to Baroness Levi in Tennis

BARONESS GEORGIO GIACOMO LEVI.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 22.—Baroness Georgio Giacomo Levi of Italy, who never took a tennis lesson in her life until this summer, was today eliminated from the women's championship of the United States by Mrs. L. A. Harper in straight sets.

By sheer grit and some of the most unorthodox, but colorful, tennis seen at Forest Hills in many a season, she battled her way into the semi-finals yesterday, defeating Miss Penelope Anderson of Richmond, Va., one of America's most experienced tournament players, 4-6, 6-4, 7-5.

The Baroness does just about everything wrong, the tennis experts say. She simply has, in the tennis sense, no style at all. They praise every time they watch her serve and then gasp. She places her feet wrong, she swings her arm incorrectly, and sometimes it almost looks as though she hit the ball with the speed of her racket. With incredible speed the ball goes singing low across the net. And right after it, with a sort of kangaroo leap, goes the Baroness to whack it coming back before it has a chance to bounce. The Baroness never lets a ball bounce if she can help it.

All over the court is the Baroness—leaping, racing, gestulating, her white teeth flashing in her braided face. Her courage is magnificent. One of her favorite dishes is a three-set match.

Slim and brown, with shining black hair, the Baroness does not go in for eye-shades, colored band-aids, or gay sweaters. Those things bother her, she says, interfere with her game. She wears spiked shoes because, she explained today, she had never played on a grass court until she almost won the Eastern turf court championship at Rye last week.

"But outside of Italy I've never gone so well," she said today. "Once about five years ago I played a season on the Riviera, but never got anywhere at all. Once at the Paris internationals I did manage to stay through until the semi-finals in the doubles, but we got licked then."

"I don't play much any more, and I've never taken it very seriously. I get to play only about three months out of every year now, and I've never had any lessons until this summer. I've learned a lot these last few weeks, but I know my game is still funny."

Cuban Sportsman Dies.

HAVANA, Aug. 22.—Cuban sportsman today mourned the death of Abel Linares, 58, promoter of international sports events. Linares died at his home yesterday of pneumonia. Linares owned and published a newspaper devoted to sports. He is credited with having discovered Adolfo Luque and other Cuban players who went to the majors.

Absent Treatment.

14-YEAR-OLD BOY TIED FOR LEAD IN GRAND AMERICAN

VANDALIA, O., Aug. 22.—L. H. Crampton, Dayton; Rufus King, a 14-year-old youth from Wichita Falls, Tex., and Don Casey, Toledo, tied for the lead in the Grand American Trapshooting program today, when each cracked 97 clay in the 100 target event. Crampton shot from the 27-yard line, Casey from the 17 and King from the 16 yard mark.

Rus Payne, Cleveland, shooting from scratch at the 25-yard line, and C. E. Adams, Hector, Ark., standing on the 20-yard mark, were tied for fourth with totals of 96 each.

Lord Burghley Is Defeated in Canadian Games

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 22.—A spectacular victory for Percy Williams, Olympic sprint champion, and the unexpected defeat of Lord Burghley, England's titled hurdler star, featured the second day of the track and field championships of the British Empire games yesterday. At nightfall, England and South Africa each had three more championships to its credit.

England captured the three-mile run, the hammer throw and the half mile run, while South Africa accounted for the shot put, discus throw and running high jump.

Williams' great victory was scored in a heat of the 100-yard dash. He was off to a bad start and needed all his vaunted speed to win from W. G. Edwards of South Africa, with J. R. (Buster) Brown of Edmonton third. Williams' time, 9.2 seconds, equaled the Canadian record set by Cyril Coe in 1927.

Lord David's defeat came in the first heat of the 120-yard high hurdles when he trailed J. H. Viljoen of South Africa to the tape by inches. Viljoen's time of 14-10 seconds set a new Canadian record for the event only to be superseded a few minutes later when H. Q. Davies of South Africa was timed in 14-10 seconds. Although beaten in his heat, Lord David's second place qualified him for the final on Saturday.

H. Hart accounted for two of South Africa's championships. He won the shot put with a toss of 47 feet 10 inches and then won the discus throw with a heave of 135 feet 11 inches. Viljoen, after his victory over Lord David in the hurdles, went out and won the high jump, clearing six feet three inches.

PLAYGROUND TITLE WILL BE DECIDED IN CONTESTS TOMORROW

The annual race for the Patrons' Alliance Trophy, awarded to the school playground which finishes the summer season with the highest number of points for all-round excellence, appears this year to have narrowed down to a race between Laclede and Wyman School playgrounds. The winner will be determined in the course of the championship games to be played at the Public Schools Stadium tomorrow afternoon, in which games both centers have three teams entered.

Wyman tops the list of contenders with 189 points, while Mason School playground is second with 182 and Laclede, which has won the trophy twice before and will take permanent possession should it capture the prize this year, is third with 172 points. Because of the system of calculating and awarding points, Mason, which is now second in line, cannot win the trophy, since it has no teams entered in the final contests of the interplayground series.

ALL-AMERICAN BERTH OPEN TO OHIO STAR

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 21.—Wesley Feiler, the Ohio State end, will enter a select circle if he is named to a third all-American football team this fall.

Canadian Open Play Showed How Golfers Have Improved Since 1919, Jones Declares

By Robby Jones.

American Open, British Open, British Amateur Champion.

I hope that all those people who like to look back to the old days for their sporting heroes and who will argue themselves and their listeners blue in the face contending that things in general are not what they used to be, I hope all of them have followed the Canadian open and taken due note of the scores that Diegel, Armour, Farrell, old Nic Thompson and the rest of the boys shot. At Hamilton, Ontario, and at Fairview, where the Metropolitan was held, a goodly number of the boys were hot and the scores turned in, even after making due allowance for the evident simplicity of the courses, have been amazingly low.

I do not know Fairview, but I do know Hamilton. It was there in 1919 that I played in my first open championship, and Leo Diegel made his first bid for the Canadian Open title. A crown which he has worn almost perennially ever since. In that year J. Douglas Edgar won with the unprecedented aggregate of 278 made up of rounds of 72, 71, 69, and 66. I remember thinking as I watched Edgar play his last round that I had never seen golf so well played. Of course, the field that year was not nearly so strong as it was this year, but it included Jim Barnes, Leo Diegel, Al Watrous, and just about all the good men we had in those days. Barnes and I tied with Karl Keffer, not the least bit ashamed of ourselves, but sixteen strokes behind the winner.

Comparison Favors Present Day Golfers.

It is a bit embarrassing to compare that with the tournament of this year played over a longer and harder course. Edgar's 278 in 1919 was a world's record; this year Edgar's score was beaten by Diegel and Armour, tied by Farrell and Manero and Mac Smith were only a stroke worse. These five men among them scored one 64, one 66, one 67, two 68's, and five 69's; Diegel alone had three rounds under seventy. Jim Barnes, with 231, three strokes better than the score with which he tied for second in 1919, was so far down the list that the reports do not even give his position.

The obvious thing, of course, is to ascribe this improvement in great part at least, to the increased driving power of the ball. But I do not think that this is the case. The ball is certainly longer now than it was in 1919. But I am not sure that the increase in power has made the game appreciably easier. In 1919 most of the players were reaching the long seventeenth at Hamilton with a drive and big iron; as Tommy Armour took five there in his round of 64 it is reasonable to conclude that the second shot was not much shorter this year.

Event Offered Good Comparison.

This recent Canadian open having brought a competition for the same title back to the same course after a lapse of 11 years has afforded us an opportunity rare on this side of the water, of setting today against yesterday to make a direct comparison of the scoring abilities of the players of each decade. In Great Britain the same opportunity is presented more often for over there the championships are held in rotation over only six courses. It is significant, too, that in the British open the record aggregate for the course over which the championship was played has been beaten in each of the last five years.

Farrell and MacFarlane Even.

The Metropolitan open, resulting in a tie between Willie MacFarlane and Johnny Farrell, developed a situation of peculiar interest to me. Each of the parties to the play-off had beaten me in a similar engagement with the national championship at stake and I was curious to see how a little battle between my two conquerors would result. Willie had beaten me at Worcester by one stroke in a second 18-hole round, made necessary when we were even at the end of the first; and Johnny had removed my scalp also by one stroke over the 36-hole route at Olympia Fields. Drawing the unpleasant comparison on the basis of how much each could beat me, they looked to be about evenly matched.

Several owners have named two horses for the stake, E. B. McLean nominating In Between and Fort-codine; Watkins and Bers entering Chilly Flight and Harry Frank and Valley Lake Stable naming Upright and Wise Lee.

Among the other stars eligible are Frigate Bird, Plucky Lady, Martha Jones, Shasta Broom, Farr, Oswego, Shalin, Jaywalker and Don Alvaro.

In addition to the Chicago Juvenile, the Hawthorne officials have carded the Fort Dearborn Handicap, one mile and one-sixteenth, for 3-year-olds. Eight good handicap horses were named through the entry box with Miss Bea, Swinfield, Cullen, Zida, Plucky Play, Dark Entry, Galadaya and Jimmy Moran matching strides. Plucky Play will carry top weight of 115 pounds.

ILLINOIS GOLFER IN WEST VIRGINIA FINAL

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Aug. 22.—F. H. Wilms of Quincy, Ill., yesterday battled his way into the finals of the old White Sulphur golf tournament, defeating his semifinal opponent, Frank N. Payne of Harrisburg, Pa., one up on the eighteenth hole. Wilms will meet S. M. Hill of Dallas, Tex., in the championship final today.

The feature match of the Mississippi Valley Amateur Association boxing program, which will take place tonight at the Olympan A. C. outdoor arena, will be a welterweight bout between Joe Herbst Jr., champion of the Missouri Valley, and Bobby Van Hook, champion of the Missouri Valley.

The battlers in the main go have not met since they won their respective titles. However, before the title tournaments Herbst shed his old rival in a thrilling battle. In the senior fight series last winter, when Moore won the championship, Herbst did not compete because of illness.

Moore, in his last important match, proved he was a worthy champion as he administered a lashing to Elmer Fokingshorne, Western A. U. 147-pound champion. In his last battle, Herbst won over George Biele, a game lad from Sherman Park.

Frank Dixey, Mississippi Valley senior flyweight titleholder, who has not suffered defeat within the past year, meets Bobby Van Hook, shift Senator A. C. fighter. Dixey has found it a difficult task to obtain matches recently, but nevertheless, he kept up his steady training.

Van Hook is a protégé of Lawrence Richardson and feels confident that he will make the champion extend his reign.

Only One Heavyweight Bout.

In the lone heavyweight bout on the card, Pat (Red) Whelan, rugged Olympan A. C. mauler, who put up a game showing against Les Schulte, national amateur junior heavyweight monarch, meets Charley Shirley, one of Kid Bandy's fighters. Both are big fellows and, at times, punch hard.

Elmer Fokingshorne, Sherman Park C. C. 147-pounder, who decisively outpointed Freddie Simmons of the South Broadway A. C. on the last Olympan card, will battle Johnny Bush, one of Barney McCarthy's larpers. Bush owns a victory over Werner Krans, Mississippi Valley lightweight cham-

Champion, and is expected to make the going tough for Fokingshorne.

RACE IN $15,000

The Mystery Team.

In St. Louis today is a major league club that rather puzzles fans. It is the mystery club of the circuit in one way. For example this club, Burt Shotton's Phillies, has a tremendous hitting punch. For a great part of the season it led all hitting teams in both leagues with a batting average of .330. It is still, near the close of a discouraging season, smashing the old apple to the tune of .330, as a club. Not only is the team's average high, but its sluggers are long hitters as well.

In addition, the club has four players who already have received votes for membership on Babe Ruth's All-American club. Whitely, O'Doul, Klein and Collins, and probably four members of the team's infield would fit in on almost any major league club that needed a man.

Two of the outfielders would be welcome on ANY ball club today.

And yet—the Phils today are in last place!

The answer? Oh, yes. We'll have to pull Addie Joss back from the hinterland to tell us once more that "pitching is 80 per cent of a ball game."

A Club With One Pitcher.

PITCHERS! Philadelphia has one—Phil Collins. For the rest the pitching hill of the Shotton outfit is just a place where they set up a dummy to be moved down by a barrage of hits.

Too bad Burt Shotton's power is all on attack. If he had even the Browns' pitching staff the club might play heck with the National League race.

Shotton has been trying for two years to get a couple of real pitchers. He had hoped that Grover Alexander would straighten up and, as relief man, check the wild hitting orgies of enemy batters. But even Grover failed him.

Shotton has a splendid foundation for a ball club. But without pitching defense it can't get anywhere. Perhaps his good friend Branch Ricks, who already has given Burt some of the talent now with his club, can slip him a pitcher or two and put Shotton in the way of getting out of the cellar next year.

Have You Been Vaccinated?

THE annual epidemic of "All-America" ball clubs is upon us, and if you're not careful, it will get you.

The fever will run higher than usual this year. That's because picking the best 10 men out of the two leagues is fraught with many complications.

The makers of baseballs and the showmanship viewpoints of league leaders have so emphasized hitting that picking a major league club might seem almost to be a question of naming the heaviest hitters in the various positions. That is not yet true, but the present trend may make it so. If not checked.

With the National League having been vaccinated, and is expected to make the going tough for Fokingshorne.

An All-Hitting Team.

STILL a team based on the leading hitters today, even including the hitting pitchers, ought to go a long way. Purely on batting averages the best club today would look like this:

PLAYER. POS. AV.

Terry. First base. . . . .407

Herman. Right field. . . . .400

Averill. Center field. . . . .351

Grantham. Second base. . . . .341

Erber. Shortstop. . . . .334

Franklin. Third base. . . . .334

Barnes. Pitcher. . . . .337

There is no particularly weak spot on this club, although Mancus's catching is not finished as yet. The pitchers would be fairly well. Ruffing has won 11 games and lost six. Brame, has exactly the same record.

With the possible exception of Frisberg of shortstop, every other player on the list will be heavily voted for in the All-America contest. Yet the list is based wholly on batting figures.

It would even compare with a club made up of say Frisch, Cochrane, Simmons, Wilson, Gehrig, Klein, Traynor, Cronin, Grove and Lyons, whose batting averages may be lower, but whose all-around value appears somewhat better. A team with a .357 batting average and two pitchers able to win at the rate of .645 in ordinary company would be tough to beat.

While batting is still important, it is not everything. The problem in framing an All-America team is to name the men whose abilities combine the most good qualities in the highest measure.

The Worst All-America.

NOBODY has gone into the business of naming the all-America "worst" team, as yet. It's an onerous task and when we begin to look into it we did not realize that it might turn out to be almost an all-St. Louis outfit as well. If, again, we confine the selection to batting, here is what we turn out for our "worst" team:

Durst, left field. . . . .227

Goldman, shortstop. . . . .223

Reeves, third base. . . . .231

Hayes, second base. . . . .238

Blue, first base. . . . .239

Badgro, right field. . . . .240

Ruel, catcher. . . . .241

Metzler, center field. . . . .243

Henry, pitcher, won 4, lost 13.

The makers of baseballs and the showmanship viewpoints of league leaders have so emphasized hitting that picking a major league club might seem almost to be a question of naming the heaviest hitters in the various positions. That is not yet true, but the present trend may make it so. If not checked.

SHELBYVILLE, ILL., TEAM WINS BOGEY GOLF TOURNAMENT

By the Associated Press.

SHELBYVILLE, Ill., Aug. 22.— Shelbyville won the ninth annual South Central Illinois bogey golf tournament here yesterday, finishing 27 up on bogey. Greenville places second with 7 up, and Centralia was third with 12 down.

Layton to Meet
Cochran in Two Special Matches

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Johnny Layton, world's three-cushion billiard champion, has accepted terms for two 600-point matches against Welker Cochran, former holder of the world's 18.2 ballkine crown.

One of the tests will be played in Los Angeles and the other in San Francisco. The dates have not been set but Layton, who now is at his summer home at Hayward, Wis., said the first match probably would start about Sept. 1 and the second a week later.

Layton also has arranged matches in Portland, Seattle and San Diego.

Cochran should provide a genuine test. It was Cochran who surprised the three-cushion world by defeating Hoppe in a special match in New York last winter.

Cochran won by 400 to 389 in 317 innings, a sensational showing. Cochran has been meeting all comers on the coast for the last six weeks.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 22.—A carnival of looting and killing in Hang-chow, western Honan Province, was reported by Chinese press dispatches today, saying Brigands had slain 500 persons, looted 300 shops and abducted 800 persons when they were holding for ransom.

The dispatches said the Brigands, numbering more than 2000, fell upon the virtually defenseless city two weeks ago, and as a result of their occupation, the town was particularly in ruins.

BRIAND TO LAY EUROPEAN UNION PLAN BEFORE LEAGUE

Will Appear Personally at Council Session, French Cabinet Decides.

PARIS, Aug. 22.—Foreign Minister Briand will personally lay his plan for formation of an economic European union before the Council of the League of Nations next month. The decision was taken yesterday after a meeting of the French cabinet, presided over by President Doumergue, who returned to Paris for the meeting.

Briand has prepared a 250-page "blue book" containing all the reports in his memorandum asking for the advice of other nations as to how his project should be carried forward. BIRTH LICENSES
SUGGESTED BY BRITISH PASTORState Regulation of Size of Families Possible, Says
the Rev. C. F. Russell.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—The possibility that a time may come when a Government license will be necessary for a child to be born was suggested by the Rev. C. F. Russell at the Modern Churchmen's Conference at Oxford yesterday.

"There are many unemployed," he said, "who intend to remain unemployed and to go on having children, knowing that the state will maintain them. If a child has a claim for state maintenance, the state must say whether it is to be born or not. At least the state should be satisfied that parents are physically and economically fit."

That Dr. Russell's suggestion is not merely wild speculation was disclosed by a speech by Dr. C. H. Bond, consultant surgeon at the Leicester Infirmary, before the conference this morning.

"A Statutory Committee charged with supervision of the blind has passed a rule which provides that no marriage shall be entered into by the committee unless one or both parties to the marriage can produce a medical certificate that such marriage will be childless," he said.

JAPAN PREPARING TO TAKE
DECENNIAL CENSUS OCT. 1To Cost $2,500,000; Campaign of Education for Residents and Enumerators.

TOKIO, Aug. 22.—Japan is preparing for its decennial census on Oct. 1. A nationwide campaign of education is in progress, for householders as well as for the 20,000 paid enumerators. The cost is estimated at 5,000,000 yen ($2,500,000).

Ten years ago Japan took its first nationwide census by modern methods and found the population to be 55,963,053 for Japan proper and 77,005,510 for the Japanese empire, including Korea, Formosa and Saghalien. This year official estimates indicate the figures will be about 63,750,000 for Japan proper and nearly 90,000,000 for the empire.

The figures for Japan proper are about equal to the population of Germany and greater than that of any other great Power except the United States and Russia.

The Japanese approach their census in a spirit different from that of America, where the bigger the figure the happier is everyone concerned. Here, increase means crowding. The nation knows it has been growing at the rate of about 750,000 a year for the past decade and this is regarded as an indication of increasing poverty rather than evidence of prosperity.

RADIO RECONCILES NATIONS,
PROF. EINSTEIN DECLARESOpening German Exposition, He Says It Will Remove National Misunderstandings.

BERLIN, Aug. 22.—Dr. Albert Einstein, mathematician and scientist, today opened formally the combined German radio and gramophone exposition. Prof. Einstein declared in his formal address:

"Radio has the unique function of reconciling nations. Until now what nations knew of each other has been almost invariably derived from distorting mirrors of their respective press organs."

The radio shows the way people really live and in most cases their best sides. The radio thus helps in removing mutual misunderstandings which so often turn into active distrust and hostility."

The exposition authorities cabled their greetings to Thomas Alva Edison, procla, "ing him the foremost pioneer of science. The message said: "May your great achievements continue to be a blessing to all nations and help imbue the world with faith in the invincible powers of the human mind."

ARAB ISSUE STRIKE CALL

Proclamations Are Signed and Demonstrations Suspended.

JERUSALEM, Aug. 22.—The Government today confiscated proclamations issued by the Arab Executive calling a strike for tomorrow, the anniversary of the outbreak of last year's rioting. The strike was to be a protest against commutation of the death sentence of the Jew Orfali, in connection with the riots.

The Arab newspaper Jamal Al Arabia, known as the organ of the Moslem Supreme Council, has been suspended for publication of the proclamation. According to the local press, opinion among the Arabs is against the proposed strike.

With the absence from Washington of Secretary Stimson, Under Secretary Cotton and the three assistant Secretaries, the duties of Secretary of State were filled by G. H. Hackworth, Solicitor of the department.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—The slogan "Keep the Government Out of Business" lost some of its efficacy today when the Federal Bureau of Mines announced that the Government-designed but operated helium plant near Amarillo, Tex., produced 9,801,986 cubic feet of helium during the fiscal year just ended at a net cost of $11.18 a thousand cubic feet. When this rare noncombustible gas for dirigible airships was purchased from a private company it cost between $30 and $35 a thousand cubic feet.

Between December, 1929, and February, 1930, the Government-owned plant was idle because the Navy Department, the chief user of helium, considered the plan of continuing to buy the gas from private producers. Representative Burton L. French of Idaho, chairman of the Navy Department subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee, scotched the plan, however, by insisting that the navy should obtain its supply from the Bureau of Mines.

The Helium Co. of Kentucky, the private concern which had had a contract with the Navy Department, sought to override French's objections by taking the matter to the Senate Appropriations Committee, but after a brief hearing the Senate Committee refused to support the company. The Kentucky company contended that the Bureau of Mines had not included all usual business costs in its price computation, but after the company admitted that it had profited by the Government's experimental work, it insisted that the Bureau should not compete with private enterprise.

Standby Costs $19,046.

The standby costs of the Amarillo plant for the two months when it was closed for lack of orders was $19,046, the announcement said. During the fiscal year the output of the plant was steadily increased and costs per unit of output were reduced, the announcement continued. The net cost a thousand feet in July, 1929, was $17.25; for June, 1930, the net cost was $6.25. Total production during June amounted to 1,407,800 cubic feet.

Helium, according to the bureau experts, now costs the Government less than flammable hydrogen, which it displaced in dirigibles. The initial cost of hydrogen is somewhat lower, but the diffusion of air into the gas envelope reduces the purity of hydrogen to about 85 per cent, resulting in decreased buoyancy and increased fire and explosion risks, the experts explained.

"When air diffuses into a helium-filled ship," the announcement said, "the only serious effect is to reduce the lifting power; in this case the helium can be purified at a cost between 50 cents to $1.50 a thousand cubic feet. The new helium required over a course of a year's operation is only about one-half as much as the hydrogen. The volume of the ships compared with eight to 10 times the volume in the case of hydrogen."

Plant at Scott Field.

The War Department has a helium purification plant at Scott Field, which repurifies the gas at a cost of $1.25 a thousand cubic feet. Helium-bearing natural gas for the Amarillo plant is drawn from Government-owned wells on the cliffside structure northwest of Amarillo, where the Government controls gas rights in about 50,000 acres of land. The natural gas is transported to the plant through a government-owned pipe line.

The natural gas is subjected under pressure to a temperature of 300 degrees below zero Fahrenheit which liquefies all the elements except the helium. The helium is discharged in a pipe line and the other elements released from their gaseous state. The remaining gas, with its heating value improved by the extraction of helium, is sold for domestic and industrial fuel.

WELLINGTON, N. Z.—The Government's economy campaign received a setback today, the defense amendment bill being rejected in legislative council. The bill would have suspended compulsory military training in New Zealand for a year.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 22.—Shanghai police have declared war on all types of unnecessary noise-makers from the Chinese stringed orchestras which serenade sleeping residents to steamboat whistles and blowers of automobile horns. Residents have been assured their complaints against piccolo players and promiscuous horn blowers will not fall on deaf ears. The fiat has gone forth that all forms of noise which tend to disturb the slumbers of the tired working man must cease. Those who disobey the edict will be fined. Old offenders will have an opportunity to spend a few days in jail. The Chinese have a penchant for noise and introduction of the automobile make matters worse. The native chauffeur "lets" much pleasure out of tooting his horn as he does in driving. Under the new ruling, one toot is all right, but two toots and trouble follows.GERARD ADDS FIVE NAMES

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany, has added five names to his list of 59 "men who rule the United States." The additions, telephoned to the New York Times from Newport, R. I., where Gerard is the guest of Gen. Cornelius Vanderbilt, are:

Sidney Z. Mitchell, chairman of the board of the Electric Bond &amp; Share Co., and a large owner of public utilities.

Walter Edwin Frew, chairman of the board of the Corn Exchange Bank Trust Co.

Amadeo P. Giannini, founder of the Bank of Italy and of the Trans-American Corporation, the world's largest holding company of bank securities.

William Green and Matthew Woll, president and vice president respectively of the American Federation of Labor.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Russian interests in the purchase of American farm machinery have largely been responsible for enabling that industry to set a new record for export business during the first half of 1930.

The Department of Commerce today announced the value of farm implements shipped abroad during the first half of the calendar year was $78,986,000, and a new record in the same period of 1929.

Russia, increasing its 1929 purchases of American farm machinery $328,251,000 of this country's exports of those devices in the six months ending last year. Declines were also noticed in the Argentine trade in the same articles.

Spain Surrenders Lauriano Villanueva; Short $500,000.

By the Associated Press.
MADRID, Aug. 22.—France's demand for the extradition of Lauriano Carlos de Villanueva, Venezuelan officer of the Paris branch of the New York National City Bank, has been granted by the Spanish Government, the newspaper La Voz says. He is wanted in Paris on the alleged misappropriation of funds said to amount to about $500,000 entrusted to his care by friends.

Villanueva fled to Spain and joined the Spanish Foreign Legion. He now is at Ceuta. Had he refused to admit his identity, the legion authorities, in accordance with tradition, would have shielded him from prosecution, even against the French Government.

A group of opponents of the proposed consolidation of St. Louis and St. Louis County had 200,000 leaflets, attacking the plan, printed and dropped from an airplane over the State fair grounds at Sedalia, Mo., this week.

On Greater St. Louis day at the fair, last Tuesday, when a delegation of city and county representatives arrived for the annual visit to the exposition, they were surprised to have these leaflets showered down on them. They had an answer ready, however, in the shape of a novel folder which they distributed by hand at the fair.

A proposed enabling amendment to the State Constitution, to authorize an election on the consolidation plan, will appear on the Missouri ballot for the November election as Proposition No. 5. The opponents' leaflet urges defeat of this proposition, while the City and County Metropolitan Development Committee folder urges its adoption.

Signers of the opposition leaflet were: J. F. Schmidt, secretary, County Farm Bureau; C. Ruehl, chairman of the board of the First National Bank of Clayton; George C. Boite, publisher of the St. Louis County Leader, in whose plant the leaflets were printed; W. D. Lindeman, president of the First National Bank of Clayton; H. P. Korth, president of the Farmers' State Bank, Chesterfield; David Schmidt, president of the St. Louis County Bank; George F. Heege of Kirkwood, lawyer and State Representative.

Judges Against Plan.

The leaflet quotes the statement of the four Circuit Judges of the county, who opposed the consolidation plan and whose arguments have been answered by the Chamber of Commerce. It asserts also: "This amendment seeks to destroy St. Louis County. It sets up a scheme of government which has never been tried out anywhere in this country, and is wholly visionary and unworkable. It will result in depriving the people of St. Louis County of local self-government and grants power to the city of St. Louis to increase our taxes by more than 100 per cent."

Second Daughter Is Born
To the Duchess of York;
Beacons to Blaze TonightAncient Ceremony to Carry News Over Countryside
—Both Mother and Child
Are Reported "Doing Fine."

By the Associated Press.

GLAMIS, Scotland, Aug. 22.—This was a day of great festivity for the people of Glamis and Forfar and of great rejoicing for all Britons, honoring the new daughter of the Duke and Duchess of York, fourth in line of the British royal family, born last night.

A bedside bulletin issued this morning by the attending physicians, Sir Henry Simson, F. Neon Reynolds and David Miles, said mother and child were "doing fine."

King George and Queen Mary were planning an early visit to see the new grandchild, their fourth. Thus, from the highest to the lowest in the empire attention centered on the great gray heap of ancient stone which is the seat of the Strathmores, wherein a British royal birth had not occurred in 300 years.

Elizabeth Sees Her Sister.

Little Princess Elizabeth, recovering from the surprise of her life, was taken this morning into the Duchess' quarters in the castle and allowed to see her baby sister, Elizabeth, who has a big red Chinese chow, canary and pony named Jessie, which the King gave her for a birthday present, put her all definitely out of her mind in favor of the baby which had come to be her new playmate.

Elizabeth is 4 years old. There will be a double birthday to celebrate in the family hereafter. While the new daughter was being greeted in Glamis Castle, the second son of Princess Mary, the Hon. Gerald David Lascelles, celebrated his sixth birthday. Both he and his brother, the Viscount Lascelles, a year older, have been entered on the waiting list for Eton. The elder brother will begin his studies there in 1936 and the younger a year later.

Lighting of Beacons Delayed.

Hunters Hill, a mighty crag near Glamis, will be the center of tonight's joyful demonstration. A great pile of faggots will be uncovered and lighted. This would have been done last night, soon after the birth at 9:22 p. m., had not a terrific gale made it seem unsafe. Today is calm. The still air is cold and stimulating, an ideal condition for the ancient Scottish rite of lighting the beacons.

The lighting becomes the herald in succession to the British throne. She takes rank after her uncle, the Prince of Wales, her father and her sister.

The Prince of Wales is reported to have stated recently that he intended to marry soon in the event another daughter were born to his sister-in-law, instead of a son.

Home Secretary's Story.

J. R. Clynes, Home Secretary, finished his important state duties in connection with the birth and made ready today to depart for London.

The Home Secretary said he was warned several hours before the event. When the final warning came he went, with H. R. Boyd, Ceremonial Secretary of the Home Office, to Glamis Castle. There he waited until Sir Henry Simson told him a daughter had been born and asked him to go and see the baby. Secretary Clynes went to a sitting room adjoining the bedroom of the Duchess.

"There I found the family group," said the Secretary, "including the Duke of York, the Earl and Countess of Strathmore and Lady Rose Leveson Gower, sister of the Duchess, standing around a little cot."

"They made way for me and I went forward and peered into the cot. I saw the baby. She was lying wide awake. The Duke of York was highly delighted that all had gone well. The others stood with smiling faces, pleased that the long ordeal was over."

Dispatching the News.

"I congratulated the Duke, Earl and Countess on behalf of the nation and the British empire as a whole. Then I left the room to attend to my official business of dispatching the news to various people, including the Lord Mayor of London, who has the historic right to be the first person informed outside of the royal family."

Secretary Clynes arrived at Glamis Aug. 5. His presence was necessary to fulfill a historic and legal duty. In early days the sovereign's chief minister was always a priest and was called the "Beloved Clerk who sits continually at our side." In later days the presence of the Home Secretary was supposed to have originated in the famous "warming-up" legend associated with James II. It was widely believed that James' wife, Mary, never had a child but one was brought to her in a warming-pan and afterward became pretender to the throne of England.

DECLARES HUGHES

Chief Justice Tells Bar Association That Encroachment on Local Authority Should Be Resisted.

EXPLAINS FUNCTION OF SUPREME COURT

Says Criticism of Decisions Is Wholesome—Urges Improvement in Administration of Criminal Law.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—The nation's greatest need, in the opinion of its Chief Justice, is improvement in the administration of justice, especially of the criminal law. Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes, addressing the annual meeting of the American Bar Association, last night warned the country's lawyers that they could not escape "special responsibility" in bringing about this improvement.

"A quickened bar, alert to its power and responsibility, can secure better administration of justice," he said. "Our Government is one of laws through men, and most of our problems in the administration of the criminal law could be solved by the selection of competent men free from the corrupting influences of fear and favor."

The Chief Justice's address, which was a welcome to the foreign guests of the Bar Association, was heard by a nation-wide radio audience as well as the thousands who packed the Civic Opera House. He greeted the visitors from other countries as "collaborators in the greatest of human causes, the cause of a just peace."

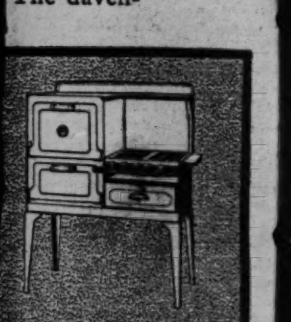

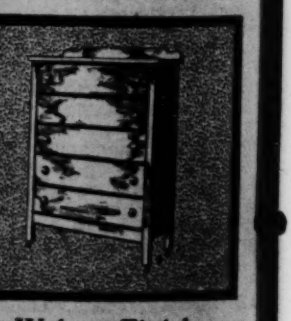

Robust Sentiment Essential.

Concerning the administration of criminal law, Chief Justice Hughes said: "More important than uniform laws, or more changes in procedural details, more necessary than any statement of the law, is the fostering of respect for law itself, and the maintenance of the primary safeguards of life and property against organized criminal assaults, against the debauching of our institutions by the capitalization of crime."

"Most essential is the robust sentiment which, regardless of the differences of political parties and policies, demands purity and competence in official action, without which all democratic efforts are futile."

The Chief Justice said encroachments upon State authority should be resisted "with the same intelligence and vigor."

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight for the rights of all peoples, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy, or predatory poverty.

Denies Reports From Italy.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THERE has been in the last weeks an insistent renewal of false reports concerning Italy. All come from Geneva, Chiasso or from other Swiss cities, and your paper or the New York World always gives encouraging support to these reports, first because they intend to throw a shadow upon Italy. This does not seem fair to me.

What, for instance, about this dangerous malady of Signor Mussolini, whose health is perfectly good? What about this avalanche of refugees running from Italy to get safety from Fascism? It is too silly to be discussed, because, if there have been some trying to run away, be assured they had something to do with Italian justice, and their records were not spotless. And what about this firing of the Fascist guards upon the St. Bernard monks and the killing of a dog, which never happened?

Perhaps you better ask the American tourists going to Italy about what Fascism did for the sake of our country and the welfare of our people.

DR. MARIO DESSAULES,
Italian Consul.

"St. Louis and Tax Reform."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I DESIRE to extend congratulations on the splendid editorial which appeared in the Aug. 18 edition of your paper, entitled "St. Louis and Tax Reform." This is one of the best articles on the recommendations of the State Survey Commission that I have read. CHAS. A. LEE,
State Superintendent of Schools.

The Economic Checker Game.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

T HE present bad conditions in our country remind me very much of a game of checkers, being played between the factory owners and the workers. No one moves and the game is blocked. Everyone knows that if a worker has money he will start the game going again by spending his money. He has no money to start the game again and the other side, the manufacturer, won't move. It looks as if this condition would last indefinitely. It is up to the business men of the country to start the game again by making the first move. The buyer is helpless. When the other side moves a couple of their checkers, confidence it will be just a short while before the game is going strong again. ALTON, ILL. JOHN F. K. S.

A Call for Return Engagements.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

M R. VEITH, we are all right with you. Another week of "Nina Rosa" would suit us just fine. To this I will add, let us have another week of either "Nina Rosa" or "Desert Song," the two best operas, maybe excepting "Student Prince." We find this to be the almost unanimous opinion of "Muny" fans.

The Intersection Menace.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

S OMETHING like 50 per cent of our automobile accidents occur at intersections. The number of such accidents could be reduced, the hazard liability greatly lessened and traffic substantially speeded up. It can all be done so easily, too. Just a sensible parking regulation. At present cars are parked flush to the street line, seriously diminishing the driver's area of vision, whether he is driving east, west, north or south. If the space of one car were reserved at both ends of each of the four corners of street intersections there would be fewer accidents and the improved vision area would make driving easier and expedite traffic. Just that small amount of space in which parking is forbidden at all times and the intersection problem would be helpfully and substantially solved. Why is not this simple, practicable regulation adopted? T. C.

Praise for the Durant Doctrine.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

YOUR editorial on "Mr. Durant, Doctor," belittling his proposal for an educational qualification for public office, merits discussion. I wonder if such a test is "contrary to the fundamentals of democracy," as you state. Carrying this theory to its logical conclusion, you would be opposed to all civil service examinations, and frankly espouse the cause of the spoilsman.

Is it undemocratic to try to pick men for public office who are fitted for public careers by setting up educational qualifications any more than it is to establish such qualifications for school teachers?

Today the chief executive of a large city is confronted with a varied array of problems which would stagger the head of the largest industrial concern in the country. The public is constantly demanding more and better technical services of its city government. Yet you say that "the survival of our democracy is not predicated on the service of specialists or on the selection of exceptional men." I most emphatically disagree. Until the public realizes that adequate and efficient public service demands trained experts instead of expert politicians in administering its affairs, it will not get an adequate return on its tax bills. PLATO.

TROUBLES OF TYRANNY.

We have not the slightest doubt that the Federal Prohibition Enforcement Unit in Missouri would like to purge its ranks of dishonest inspectors. Nor have we any doubt that Mr. Woodcock, the National Prohibition Director, would like to purify the ranks of all graft and corruption everywhere.

If the prohibition laws enjoyed popular sanction, these efforts both within the states and the nation to make enforcement honest could hope to succeed. They cannot hope to succeed because prohibition does not enjoy popular sanction. It is, in fact, itself immoral for persisting against the will of the people, and it is in consequence impossible that its enforcement should be any more moral than it is. No stream can rise above its source.

In the case of James A. Barr, who has just resigned as liquor permit inspector in St. Louis, charges were made by druggists that he had to be paid to make favorable reports upon their disposal of liquor. If one-tenth part of the charges made against Barr are true, and Sam Haley, supervisor of whiskey and industrial alcohol permits, admitted in Kansas City yesterday that Barr was dismissed for bribery, corruption in the prohibition service has assumed an amazing effrontery. One druggist who complained of the inspector's conduct says he was chided by Barr for not being a good sport. That is, the druggist was getting something out of it, which made the transaction ethical if not legal. This is a commonplace in prohibition enforcement. The dealer fixes it with the inspector, and society is out of it. This is not an admirable code of ethics, but it serves the purpose when the law is debauched.

The Missouri enforcement unit is also moving against another of its St. Louis inspectors. The man has been suspended pending an investigation, and heads of the prohibition unit in the State have not yet said why. This is symptomatic of the situation all over the United States. Whether in Missouri or any other state, or whether in St. Louis or any other city, prohibition enforcement is so honeycombed with corruption that its principal executives are busier keeping their units purged of grafters than they are enforcing the law itself. To find corruption is so common that as a rule the only punishment visited upon a dishonest employee is to dismiss him. Usually nothing comes of charges against a prohibition inspector, as it is unlikely that the charges made by three St. Louis druggists against Barr will ever be pushed.

Perhaps Mr. Wickersham, who is repeating before the American Bar Association this week Mr. Hoover's ridiculous philosophy that all laws are alike and the citizen therefore has no right to pick or choose among them, will tell us why it is that laws enjoying popular sanction can be enforced and laws which do not enjoy popular sanction can only come at length to the sorry plight of prohibition. The enforcement of this law is in trouble all over the United States. They are the troubles of tyranny.

A DOUBLE DARE, LADIES.

Paris' decree that waists would be as high and skirts as long and flowing as those which hung in Guinevere's tower wardrobe stirred us not a whit. Nor did reports of the raised neckline, the uneven hem and the fitted bodice. Forecasts of billowy velvets, muffs of cloth to match, patent leather gauntlets and gloves and hats pushed far back on the head gave us only the mildest sort of pleasure. But the latest announcement, ah, the latest! It sends us skipping in childish glee. The effort to broaden the feminine silhouette, we learn, will result in the return of that putty delight of those dear, dead '90s, the leg of mutton sleeve. Ere October's bright, blue weather women once again will have set sail, decked out like a flock of baby blimps. No prospect could be happier, for in the revival of those swollen roundities lies the realization of one of the male's long repressed desires. His effort to harmonize will bring back the beard as a matter of course. Chin fungus everywhere, silken, lacy, grizzled, parted, flowing, curled and just plain whiskers. Hubby, the boy friend, the boss, the soda fountain clerk, the laundry collector—all, all in beards. J. Ham Lewis in every home.

Manhood accepts the challenge, ladies. Revive the leg of mutton sleeve if you think you're game.

KEEP THE KIDNAPERS OUT!

Kidnaping in St. Louis has so far confined itself chiefly to the underworld, but this is no reason why it should not be promptly stepped upon.

It would be a false sense of security which assumed that kidnaping could go on unmolested in the underworld without in time rising to plague us all. It is a species of terrorism, the operations of which are so harrowing that no community can take a chance with it.

The St. Louis Police Department has earned to a great degree the expectation that nothing savoring of the plight of Chicago is to be tolerated here. We are fortunately not preyed upon by racketeers and other scummy criminals whose toll has become a matter of course in other cities, and we hope to see the Department continue its good work in the field of kidnaping.

A COUNTY IN PENNSYLVANIA.

Gifford Pinchot's nomination for Governor of Pennsylvania has been upheld by the Supreme Court of that State, which rejected the petition of the contestant, Francis Shunk Brown, to throw out the 60,000 ballots cast in Luzerne County. The petition cited that the ballots in that county were perforated and, therefore, void and ought not to be counted.

A singular feature of the latest Pennsylvania primary is the fact that Luzerne County nominated Mr. Pinchot. It gave him a plurality of approximately 26,000. Since his plurality in the State as a whole was but 20,000, it is evident that, without Luzerne's vote, he would have been defeated. Such extraordinary concentration of Pinchot sentiment in one county is a phenomenon of Pennsylvania politics which we folks out here in the "backyard states" of the trans-Mississippi country find it hard to understand.

It would not be baffling in the case of an efficiency expert like Mr. Vane, for instance, whom Philadelphiaans support with a unanimity unparalleled since the song of the morning stars. But Mr. Pinchot is not the same kind of practical Pennsylvanian that Mr. Vane is. Mr. Pinchot is a force of righteousness in that dark, unhalloved ground where Quay and Penrose have found rest after the "drums and trappings," but where Vane and Grundy and the Mellons still battle with what in the Chinese metaphor are silver bullets.

The court's judgment, of course, quashes forever the charges of corruption and irregularity by the petitioner in this action. Yet it must be confessed that the Pinchot-organization functioned almost perfectly in Luzerne County.

MORE FISH OUT OF WATER.

One after another the American oracles have enlightened us concerning the causes of the business depression. "The workers are scared and will not buy," said Thomas A. Edison. "Lots of people are looking for Santa Claus," said Henry Ford. "They expect somebody to do something for them. There are more people who won't try to do anything than there are who don't know what to do. Many people are too busy to be unemployed." And now Calvin Coolidge tells us that "one of the most powerful influences in retarding business recovery is fear. Wage-earners buy only the bare necessities and save against possible unemployment. This results in the vicious circle of smaller sales, less people employed and decreasing buying power. People are out of work because the things they could produce are not being sought. If those who are working would purchase what they need and can afford, a healthy commerce would be quickly created."

As it presents itself to these sages, the problem is delightfully simple. We must buck up and start spending money whether we have it or not. Human cussedness is the root of all trouble. We are foolishly pessimistic when we should be foolishly optimistic. That is all. These three wise men are untroubled by the perplexing questions of dwindling gold output, declining price levels, overcapitalization, excesses of the security market, Europe's tardy economic reconstruction, our interference with world trade and troubled domestic industries of such basic importance as agriculture, textiles, coal. These matters, it seems, are beyond their ken.

Such pontifications serve further to illustrate the fact that men who achieve unquestioned eminence in one field of human endeavor do not thereby establish themselves as authorities in all others. They show, too, that men who would bow, without question, to the judgment of the scientist in biology, geology or astronomy, still feel themselves fully competent to speak with authority in the field of economics. Hazard economic opinions, we have learned, are not always to be trusted, even when they are held by great men. Even great men, out of their element, can be very much like fish out of water.

WHEN THE FIREFLIES GO.

Summer isn't the same after the fireflies leave. Welcome as is the coming of cooler nights, they bring a pleasure which falls far short of offsetting the departure of the tiny golden lanterns after the stars have come out. In tropical America the natives deck themselves with the living jewels and put them in cages for illumination, and, so some travelers say, fasten them to their shoes to ward off jungle reptiles. Here children chase them along the garden wall and down the moonbeam-shot lane that they may marvel at the flashing lights in their closed hands. Young lovers see the weird chaos of their dizzy dance and plan the future. Old men and women watch them from the porch, and looking back on life, find it good. Some say fireflies in the dark are unuttered kindly thoughts, good deeds never done, smiles not shown—searching through the night of life for opportunities long ago passed by. Some think the eerie lamps are signals of love like the lark's song to his mate on the nest, as he flies high above the meadow in the morning sky. Others caught in the flickering meshes of the airy net at evening raise themselves out of a humdrum world. Something is missing from the summer night when the fireflies go.

RUSSIA AND WORLD TRADE.

Representative John E. Nelson of Maine is afraid that the economic rehabilitation of Russia menaces the future prosperity of American industry. If we lend money to Russia, he says, she will buy machinery and hire technical experts and produce goods which she will dump in our markets in an effort to undermine our economic system. Trade with the Soviets can only end in the destruction of our institutions.

The report which has just been made by Dr. Samuel N. Harper, professor of Russian history and institutions at the University of Chicago, following a visit to Russia, should set the Congressmen's fears at rest. Dr. Harper found low living standards, an acute shortage of clothing and foodstuffs, prohibitively high prices on the necessities of life, and a prevailing apprehension of an impending currency inflation which would prove disastrous in its effects. Although great strides have been made industrially in the last few years, capital is still seriously limited; industrial labor is lacking in skill, and there is a dearth of expert technicians. The Soviets are deliberately handicapping themselves by refusing to employ the services of those among the intelligentsia who are suspected of disloyalty to the proletarian dogma. Low wages, poor living standards, limited capital, coerced regimentation and doctrinaire administration are not the foundations of industrial supremacy.

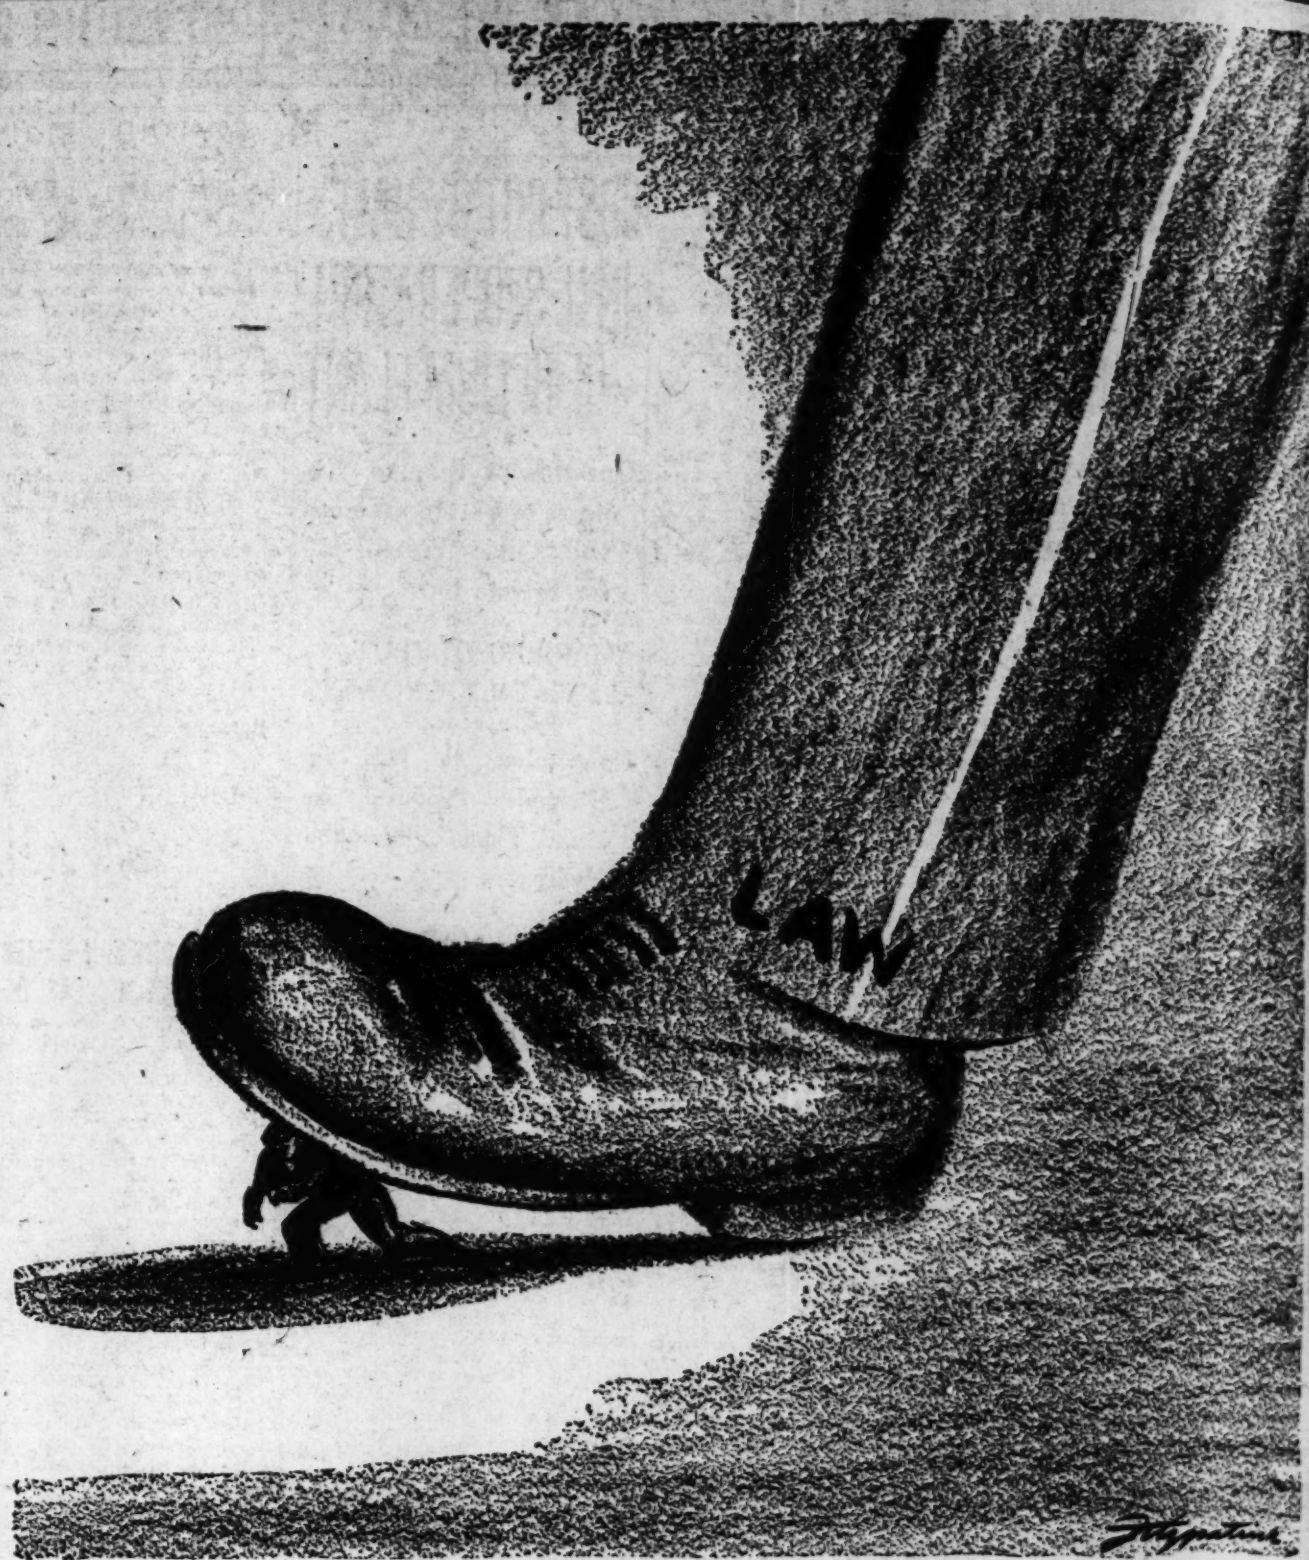

Russia still has much to do for her own people before she becomes our serious competitor in world trade. Russian industry, concludes the professor, holds no threat to American prosperity. We are aware that Representative Nelson may remain unimpressed by this report. Perhaps he shares the scorn for the trained intellect which was revealed by Senator Shortridge in the latter's comment on the 1928 economists who "protested the passage of the Grundy tariff."

"Oh, these college professors," said the Senator. "Sometimes I shall take a day off to express my views touching their capacity to guide this nation."

OFFENDERS AND DEFENDERS.

The communist children's camp at Van Ketten, N. Y., may have been objectionable to the neighbors in many respects; at any rate, its teachings were subversive. Some 2000 patrioters from the surrounding country, men, women and children, gathered there with the avowed intention of storming the place, burning the buildings and driving from the vicinity 70 children and their adult Red mentors. The county Sheriff, however, had other ideas. On the job in the nick of time, he and six deputies and a squad of State troopers—all officers of the Government—descended upon the place, and the communist mobsters professed to reverse and the communist to disperse—drew a deadline around the camp—and there was no outrage.

If we will set others the good example of law-abiding we will do more to stabilize society than we can hope to do by ourselves being lawless.

THE WAY TO KEEP KIDNAPING OUT OF ST. LOUIS.

Three Hundred Years of Massachusetts

Bay State, celebrating tercentenary, has another memorable date this summer, the third anniversary of Sacco and Vanzetti's execution; State has justifiable pride in a noble history, but maintains her traditional position of intolerance; only the birth of understanding can make Massachusetts just to all her people.

Henry Raymond Mussey in the Nation.

MASSACHUSETTS has been observing its tercentenary. All through the hot days of the summer the old Bay State, with all the paraphernalia of drums and banners and processions and pageants, with music and resounding oratory and civic rejoicing, has been celebrating the completion on this continent of 300 years of ordered civil liberty under the law. It is an impressive spectacle, and the hearts of Massachusetts men and women swell with justifiable pride as they realize that they are inheritors of a noble tradition and are part of a great civil experiment still in process.

On AUG. 22, Massachusetts observes another anniversary. Three years ago the Commonwealth, acting through all the agencies by law established, put to death two Italian working men, Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti. The anniversary falls strangely in this tercentenary year. No one who lived through the dreadful days of August, 1927, in even indirect contact with that tragedy, can ever forget the ghastly horror of it all. But the passions of those days have cooled. It is no longer a time either for shrill denunciation or for impassioned defense of the men who sent those two humble Italians to their death. Rather is it a time for thoughtful question.

What does civil liberty actually mean today in Massachusetts, its classic American democracy? Who enjoys it, and under what conditions? Can it or can it not be extended in fact to all the people? If so, how can this condition be brought about?

Ideally, civil liberty means the guaranty to every citizen to the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness—the right to be secure in person against violence and lawlessness, private or official, the right to possess and enjoy property. What did it actually mean to the good shoemaker and the poor fish peddler? In practice nothing. If we are right who believe that they were unjustly deprived of the most fundamental of all rights, the right to life itself. What is the ground of our conviction?

It is not that they were deprived of any of the forms of law. Let it be granted that their trial was fair. Even so, did they enjoy the substance as opposed to the forms of civil liberty? Thoughtful men by the thousand answer the question with a flat no.

Those of us who answer thus believe that it would have been impossible for any alien charged in Massachusetts in 1926, not because of courts and juries had any wish to be unfair, but because aliens and radicals stood outside the charmed circle of understood persons and because courts and juries were afraid.

During three centuries, rulership in Massachusetts, despite the tradition of democracy, has rested in the hands of a relatively small governing class embracing chiefly the brains and wealth of the community. It descended from the clergy and property holders of the seventeenth century, and descended to the financial and industrial rulers of today, with the professional classes who largely do their thinking for them, and the great body of employees and substantial citizens of small property who take their ideas uncritically from their "betters." It is because the law in Massachusetts is made and administered by and for this traditionally "American" group, great numbers of us believe, and not because they killed Sacco and Vanzetti are in their graves today.

If we are right, then the alien, the radical, the dissident, the outlandish man of whatever sort who lacks economic and social standing is extremely likely under the forms of law to be practically deprived of those advantages whose supposedly universal enjoyment Massachusetts celebrates this year. He is deprived of them, not because the ruling group wish to deprive him, but because they lack the understanding, the sympathy, the imagination to bring him effectively within their group, to whom alone the guarantees and immunities of citizenship practically extend. Unable to include him, they fear and distrust him, and pass over quickly to repression.

This lack of understanding and toleration is no new thing, though it may take new forms. But from the days of Anne Hutchinson and the Quakers, down through the revolutionary years when it was unsafe not to be a patriot, continuing during the times when Boston was mobbing William Lloyd Garrison, building at night a two-noise scaffold before his house, and threatening to hang Wendell Phillips, and so on to the bitter August days when they were putting Sacco and Vanzetti to death—through 160 years the rulers of Massachusetts have been sternly intolerant of fundamental dissent. Massachusetts may well reflect that the executions of Aug. 22, 1927, were but one incident of three centuries of fundamental intolerance.

That intolerance in our day has sent its roots deep down into our existing property system, and woe to him who would shake or even amend that system. For generations the ruling group have been its beneficiaries, and by means of the political and social system into which it is built and by which it is supported they control the life of the Commonwealth. It was fear and distrust, so it seems to me, that were responsible for the Sacco-Vanzetti execution. If we are right, then the charge that Massachusetts is a class state is insofar true, and her tercentenary insofar is the celebration of a fiction.

Must Massachusetts, then, must the United States accept the communist thesis that our democratic state is necessarily the property of the rich and powerful, with the corollary that the only hope for the unprivileged is the overthrow of that state? Is it possible that the people of Massachusetts should contemplate in this tercentenary year.

If they choose the other path, then they must realize that it means deep-going change, and no social change is ever accomplished without difficulty. Massachusetts cannot be just to all her people without disturbing the privileges that some of them now enjoy. Will she be great enough and bold enough to make that choice? To make it will require courage and vision and faith in men of all sorts and kinds as against men simply of our own kind.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.

FRIENDS of Senator Borah recently bought a home not far from the capital and invited him to come out, visit them and make himself at home.

On the place were a lot of blackberries. It seems that the famous Idahoan is fond of this particular fruit. So, one day, while his hosts were away, he procured a basket and went out to pluck some. All went well until an old lady, who lives nearby, spied the Senator and accosted him. She asked if he knew he was trespassing. He told her that he was not, but she insisted he was.

Finally, a bit amused at the incident, he turned to her and said: "Perhaps you do not know who I am."

And without a moment of hesitation came the reply: "Oh, yes, I do, Senator Borah."

SENATOR ARTHUR ROBINSON of Indiana, one of the youngest men in the Senate, is probably the only member of that body who owes his election to his wife. When the war was over, she began political labors in her precinct committee in Indianapolis. Later she became vice chairman of the Republican City Committee in Indianapolis. She was her husband's manager, organizing and conducting his campaign while he stayed at his post in the Senate in Washington.

"She has managed me all my life," says the Senator. "I saw no reason why she should not do it then."

A vivacious and friendly woman, Mrs. Robinson makes friends easily.

PRESIDENT HOOVER'S chauffeur has been officially recognized as a safe driver. Francis H. Robinson, who has been driving the private automobiles of Presidents since 1910, has in his possession a copy of a reputation passed by the Safety Council of Dayton, O., to that effect. The resolution was forwarded directly to President Hoover.

Robinson, who first came to the White House when President Taft decided to replace the traditional carriage with a steam-driven automobile, has had no accidents in his entire service as chauffeur to Presidents Taft, Wilson, Harding, Coolidge and Hoover.

ATHLETES IN TEMPERANCE CRUSADE.

WITH the announcement that Bobby Jones, king of golfers, had accepted a commander's post in the recently organized Atlanta (Ga.) unit, the Washington Crusaders have divulged plans for a series of fall demonstrations designed to advance the interests of wet candidates in Congressional elections. Bobby Jones is the latest of a number of internationally known athletes who have espoused the Crusaders' fight for "temperance, not prohibition." Recently Gene Tunney, Jesse Sweetser and all members of the Davis Cup tennis team became actively engaged in the organization's work.

MOVIE TRUST SUIT SETTLED OUT OF COURT

Consent Decree Enjoins Companies From Alleged Practices in Restraint of Trade.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 22.—A consent decree has disposed of two-year-old Federal indictments against the Fox West Coast Theaters and 10 motion picture companies charging violation of the Sherman antitrust act.

The decree entered yesterday enjoined the defendants perpetually from alleged practices in restraint of trade in films designed to hamper unaffiliated exhibitors, especially in Southern California.

Besides the Fox West Coast Theaters, the defendants were the Fox Film Corporation, Paramount Pictures, Inc., Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Distributing Corporation, First National Pictures, Inc., Universal Film Exchanges, Inc., Vitaphone, Inc., Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc., Pathe Exchange, Inc., United Artists Corporation and Vitaphone Co. of California.

Trial of the companies on the charges was scheduled to begin yesterday. Dismissal was anticipated when it was announced earlier that counsel for the Government and the companies had agreed to a settlement which included filing a civil suit against the defendants in place of the criminal action.

The indictment, returned last year, charged the film companies with entering into an agreement to force independent exhibitors out of the industry unless they entered into preferential booking contracts. The decree restrains the companies from conspiring for any of the following purposes:

Excluding or attempting to exclude unaffiliated exhibitors from contracting in the course of interstate trade and commerce for motion picture films; excluding or attempting to exclude unaffiliated exhibitors from exhibiting in competition with affiliated exhibitors; excluding or attempting to exclude by acting in concert, any exhibitors from exhibiting two or more picture feature productions on one program or who may desire to donate gifts or premiums to their patrons in connection with any motion picture performance; enforcing or attempting to enforce clearance schedules providing for unreasonable and discriminatory protection.

GREEN ASKS LOUISIANA LABOR TO VOTE AGAINST RANDELL

Senator's Vote for Judge Parker and Stand on Union Matters Given as Reasons.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Organized labor in Louisiana has been asked by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, to vote against Senator Randell, who is opposed, for the Democratic senatorial nomination, by Gov. Huey Long.

Randell's vote for confirmation of Judge John J. Parker of Charlotte, N. C., as a Supreme Court Justice was cited as one of the reasons why union men should give their support to Long.

Green and the Federation's executive council have authorized the issuance of a letter which says Randell's general legislative record on issues of interest to labor unions has been unsatisfactory.

The Federation's stand, it was said, had been taken after an investigation into the primary contest and the viewpoints of the candidates made by a nonpartisan Labor Campaign Committee.

DROP IN PESO VALUE LAID TO SMUGGLING OF GOLD

By the Associated Press.
MEXICO CITY, Aug. 22.—Alberto Mascareñas, general manager of the Bank of Mexico, in a statement today, declared the fall of the Mexican silver peso was due to smuggling operations which took Mexican gold into the United States. Mascareñas estimated that $100,000 in gold was smuggled across the border daily between Nuevo Laredo and Piedras Negras. Removal of the gold, he said, brought the value of the silver coins down. When the exchange was low enough the gold would reappear again and be used to purchase the silver, which immediately is enhanced in value.

He termed the gold smugglers traitors to their country.

BAKER, Ore., Aug. 22.—A blazing mail plane, with one wing virtually destroyed, was brought to earth here today by Abe Warner, right eye in landing, said gasoline from a line leak started spraying his face about 30 miles from here. He said he was twice nearly overcome by fumes. The fire broke out in the cockpit and one wing.

SAFETY OF UNION IN STATE RIGHTS, DECLARES HUGHES

gent determination as that which should be fully exercised to meet national needs.

Importance of States Authority. "Paradoxical as it may seem," he said, "not only the security, but the efficiency of the union lies in the appropriate maintenance of the authority of the states within the proper spheres of local government and local policy. Despite all the economic changes and the intimacies of closely related activities, notwithstanding the vast expansion of interstate commerce in novel forms leading to unanticipated applications of the national authority, which was granted with extraordinary wisdom in a very general formula, the states continue as reservoirs of power reserved, not conferred, by which they deal with a multitude of particular concerns, and enjoy differentiations congenial to local sentiment."

However difficult it may be, in constitutional interpretation, to maintain perfectly, and to the satisfaction of all, this balance between state and nation, it is of the essence of American institution that it should be preserved so far as human wisdom makes this possible, and that encroachments upon state authority, however contrived, should be resisted with the most intelligent determination as that which demands that the national authority should be fully exercised to meet national needs.

The Chief Justice defended criticism of court decisions as wholesome, and he charged the Bar Association with responsibility of securing honest, able and fearless prosecuting officers, magistrates and judges.

Functions of Supreme Court.

On the functions of the Supreme Court, the Chief Justice said: "If the Congress could determine the limits of its own authority, it could destroy the States. It could usurp the authority of the national executive if the States could determine the limitations of their power, they could destroy the union. If the President could finally interpret the constitution for himself, executive authority could be made supreme. Somewhere in such a system, with a written constitution establishing restrictions of state power and of national power, there must be a final arbiter, that is, final until the people in the constitutional method prescribe a change, if that be desired."

It was also necessary that this arbiter of constitutional interpretation should be as far removed as possible from the sway of passion, or partisan motives, from the swirl of temporary gusts of the political wind. Moreover, the rights of individuals are concerned in the distribution of powers, and as controversies arise they must be determined in accordance with law, that is, the fundamental law, and thus we have the classic explanation of the scope of the judicial power reposed in a supreme national tribunal."

In the delivery of several standing committee reports before the convention today, only one—that on uniform state laws—provoked serious discussion. Vigorous objection was made to the inclusion of a recommendation for a uniform child labor law by William Montgomery of Philadelphia. He opposed the recommendation, he said, because of the different conditions in the various states, the report nevertheless was adopted.

PLANNING MEALS FOR THE FAMILY TABLE

Hot Weather and Fussy Appetites Necessitate Careful Food Selection.

A spell of torrid weather dulls appetites, sharpens tempers and puts a strain on nerves. Food continues to be a necessity, but unless it is appetizingly seasoned, possesses cooling qualities and is daintily served it will probably be neglected.

All the summer food favorites are to be had now—green corn, yellow summer squash, garden tomatoes and lettuce, tender okra, little tender white turnips, green and wax beans, lima beans, peaches, pears, plums, melons and grapes, all in abundance and at low cost. Their use adds much to the ease of preparation and the attractiveness of family meals.

While it is sometimes a bit more difficult to plan attractive meals in mid-summer, it is by no means an impossible task, and it can be much simplified if the following facts are kept in mind.

First, plan for simplicity in the menu and in the serving; next, see that special attention is given to the seasoning and to making each portion of food as dainty and as attractive as possible; third, be sure that the table is daintily set, and the appointments immaculate.

Linon table runners or small dollies make laundry work simpler and can be easily kept clean.

therefore they are quite popular for all summer meals.

In planning meals and selecting the foods to be used, see to it that a good variety of fruits and vegetables are included—try to plan for at least two different kinds of fruit and two vegetables each day. Salads offer endless possibilities and when properly made are sure to be tempting. By properly made, is meant cold lettuce, cold filling, cold plates and dainty appearance.

Cold dishes are in order for hot days, but very often a cup of clear hot soup garnished with a slice of lemon and a sprinkling of minced parsley will prove just the needed spur to make the meal enjoyable.

This may be used very successfully with a platter of cold, assorted meats, crisp potato chips, a jelly vegetable relish, a plain crisp green salad and a fruit dessert. On the other hand, if the main course is hot, say chops or a planked steak or a delicious curry, a chilled soup or a slice of honeydew or cantaloupe sprinkled with lemon juice and finely chopped mint and served well chilled will work wonders in stimulating appetites.

Plan meals with the varieties of hot weather appetites in mind. Strive for contrasts in flavor and texture, simplicity in combinations and balance in food values.

Some of the types of food that are eminently suited to midsummer are such things as baked stuffed tomatoes, squash, cucumbers and eggplant, broiled fish, clams, broiled tomatoes with cheese sauce or with creamed mushrooms and bacon, cheese soufflé, escalloped vegetables, rice and vegetable cutlets or croquettes, sautéed kidneys with bacon and mushrooms, meat loaves, either hot or cold, planked steak, broiled steak, chops, broiled or baked chicken and roast duck.

It pays to take the time to study a good cook book and list the foods that will make the most appeal to the tastes of the family.

MOLDED Caramel CUSTARDS

Put one cup sugar in a small, heavy frying or sauce pan and stir constantly over a slow fire until the sugar is melted and a pale brown in color. Remove from the fire, cool for a minute and then pour into six buttered, individual custard cups.

The sugar syrup, or caramel is very hot, so handle it carefully.

Beat three eggs until light, add three cups milk, one-third cup sugar, one-half teaspoon salt and one-fourth teaspoon grated nutmeg. Mix and pour into the custard cups on top of the caramel.

Place the custards in a shallow pan half full of hot water and bake in a slow oven for 35 minutes or until firm. Cool, chill and turn out before serving.

The caramel will make a sauce on the bottom of the custards and will give them a delightful flavor.

To make a more elaborate dessert, and one that has more food value, sprinkle the custards with chopped pecans or almonds before serving.

RECIPES FOR DISHES IN WEEK'S MENUS

Salads and Appetizing Vegetable Dishes Make Summer Meals Interesting.

Use the round, scalloped white squash that are known as cymings. Select small tender ones, wash, cut in quarters and remove the seeds, but do not peel. Cover with boiling water and boil for three minutes, then drain and place in a deep baking dish. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and add, for three small squashes, two tablespoons butter, one cup milk and one-half cup undiluted evaporated milk. Cover and bake in a moderate oven for 40 minutes, or until the squash is tender and most of the milk absorbed. Serve hot.

In the summer time plan to utilize the oven to the best advantage and when roasting meat, plan a baked vegetable and baked, browned or scalloped potatoes for the same meal.

Cheese and Fruit Salad. Soak one tablespoon gelatin in one-fourth cup cold water for 10 minutes and then dissolve in one-half cup scalded milk. Cool and add gradually to one-half pound cream cheese, mixing thoroughly to insure a smooth texture. Next add one-half cup canned pineapple juice, one tablespoon powdered sugar, one tablespoon lemon juice and one cup whipped cream or evaporated milk. Pour into a border or ring mold to chill and harden, or pour into the freezing pan of an electric refrigerator and freeze until firm.

Unmold or, if frozen, cut in squares, and serve on lettuce with any mixture of fresh fruit and cream mayonnaise or fruit French dressing. This latter is made by using lemon and other fruit juices instead of vinegar, and adding a little sugar.

Potato and Egg Salad. Select 10 small new potatoes, wash and boil in their jackets for 20 minutes. Cool, peel and cut in thin slices. Sprinkle one teaspoon salt and one-quarter teaspoon white pepper over the potatoes and then add one-quarter cup thinly sliced onion, one-half cup salad oil, three tablespoons vinegar and two tablespoons minced parsley. Mix lightly but thoroughly with a fork, being careful not to mash the potatoes. Chill and serve on lettuce with a garnish of quartered, hard-boiled eggs. The eggs may be omitted if the salad is to be served with cold meats.

Grape Juice Sherbet. One cup grape juice, one-quarter cup of lemon juice, one-half cup cream, three egg whites, three-quarter cup of water, one-half cup of sugar, two tablespoonfuls gelatin, three tablespoonfuls water. Boil sugar and water, soak gelatin in cold water and dissolve in hot syrup. Add grape juice and lemon juice. Freeze until it thickens. Whip until foamy and fold in the whites of eggs and whipped cream.

Brained Liver. Use for this one and a half pounds calves' liver, or a whole lamb's liver. Wash the liver, drain well and sprinkle lightly with salt, pepper and flour. Melt two tablespoons butter or bacon fat in a frying pan, brown the liver quickly in it and then remove to a baking dish. Put two sliced onions, a small, diced white turnip, one-quarter cup diced carrots and one-half cup diced celery around the liver in the baking dish.

Add one cup boiling water, cover the dish closely and bake in a slow oven for one hour or until the liver is tender and the vegetables somewhat transparent. Thicken the gravy slightly and slice the liver thin for serving.

Peach Dessert. Cut fresh or stale sponge cake in thin slices. Peel and slice ripe peaches and sprinkle with sugar. In an attractive serving dish arrange alternate layers of the cake and peaches and cream or cold boiled custard.

Fruit Cocktail Suggestion. In making fruit cocktails or fruit cup, add a little lemon juice to whatever fruit is used in order to develop its best flavor. The tartness of the lemon increases the appetizing qualities of even the juiciest of fruits and also increases the mineral content of the mixture. One or more tablespoons of lemon juice is a good proportion to each three cups of mixed fruit.

PEARS MAKE VARIOUS Dainty PRESERVES

This Fruit Is Readily Made Into the Most Intriguing Winter Sweets.

Pears of themselves are not rich in flavor so in putting them up for winter use, it is well to flavor them highly with sugar and spice and everything nice as the nursery rhyme has it.

Pickled Pears. Take three pounds pears, one cup vinegar, one teaspoon whole ginger, one stick cinnamon, three cups sugar and six whole cloves. Peel pears and cut out blossom end, leaving the stem on. Boil pears in three pints of water until soft. Remove pears and add the water. Sugar, vinegar, cinnamon, finely chopped ginger and cloves. Boil five minutes, place pears in syrup and continue boiling for five minutes or until syrup is thick. Dip pears out carefully.

PEARS MAKE VARIOUS DAINTY PRESERVES

This Fruit Is Readily Made Into the Most Intriguing Winter Sweets.

Pears of themselves are not rich in flavor so in putting them up for winter use, it is well to flavor them highly with sugar and spice and everything nice as the nursery rhyme has it.

Pickled Pears.
Take three pounds pears, one cup vinegar, one teaspoon whole ginger, one stick cinnamon, three cups sugar and six whole cloves. Peel pears and cut out blossom end, leaving the stem on. Boil pears in three pints of water until soft. Remove pears and add to the water: sugar, vinegar, cinnamon, finely chopped ginger and cloves. Boil five minutes, place pears in syrup and continue boiling for five minutes or until syrup is thick.
Dip pears out carefully and place in sterilized glass jars. Remove spices from syrup, pour in jars to fill to overflowing and seal.

Preserved Minted Pears.
Use five dozen medium-sized cooking pears (not too ripe), 12 cups sugar, one-fourth teaspoon green coloring paste, six cups water, two teaspoons mint extract, or one bunch fresh mint.
Wash and peel pears; cut out blossom end. Drop 12 pears into hot syrup made of sugar, water, coloring and extract or crushed mint. Simmer gently until soft and clear. Do not boil.
Remove to hot, sterilized jars and continue cooking pears until all are cooked. Boil down syrup, fill jars to overflowing and seal at once. This makes a delicious accompaniment to meats or salads.

Ginger Pears.
Four pounds pears, juice four lemons, two ounces preserved ginger, four pounds sugar and grated rind of two lemons.
Wash and peel pears and cut in small pieces. Add sugar, juice and grated rind of lemons and preserved ginger, cut very fine. Cook over a slow fire until it thickens. Turn into sterilized glasses or jars and seal at once.
Lemon and Pear Marmalade.
Take 15 cooking pears, three lemons, three cups water, nine cups sugar.

Peel and cut pears into eighths. Cook thinly sliced lemons in water 45 minutes, or until clear. Add sugar and boil 10 minutes longer; add pears and cook one hour longer. Turn into sterilized jars or glasses and seal with melted paraffin.

NEW RAW CARROT SALAD
Nut Meats and Sweet Green Peppers Add Flavor.

Two and one-half cups raw grated carrots, one cup pecan meats, one green sweet pepper, one-half cup whipped cream, and mayonnaise dressing.
Scrape the skin from large carrots, or just scrub well and grate them.
Chop half the pecans and mix with the carrots. Add enough mayonnaise to hold together.
Serve in lettuce cups. Decorate with a teaspoon of whipped cream which has been flavored to taste with mayonnaise. Garnish with a ring of green pepper.

French Fried Cabbage.
First crisp in cold water, then chop. Dip in milk, drain and dip in flour. Fry in deep fat, and drain on brown paper. Serve with bacon and corn bread.

COMBINE PEARS AND PLUMS IN A DESSERT SERVICE

Fruit Combinations Are Listed as Favorite All-Year-Round Desserts.

Select ripe but firm pears and plums. One pear makes a service for two, while one plum is necessary for each service.
Peel the pears and place in a glass or china dish. Sprinkle them with sweetened lemon juice and water. One-fourth cup of lemon juice, one-eighth cup of sugar and one-eighth cup of water will make a solution to use for this purpose. Cover the dish and place it on ice. Peel the plums and pit them. Replace the seed with almonds, one to each half.

Make a sauce of one-half cup of orange juice, thickened with one teaspoon of cornstarch and sweetened with two tablespoons of sugar.
When this is cool, fold one-half cup of sweetened whipped cream through the sauce.
Arrange the pears on serving plates. Cover the pear with the sauce, then place two halves of plums on each half of pear. This arrangement of the fruit gives an artistic effect. To cover all the fruit with the sauce hides the color combination.

IN SAVING MONEY WISELY

OF ALL the food you buy, a bowl of Kellogg's Corn Flakes and milk is one of the most satisfying and economical.

It is the favorite breakfast dish of millions. On hot days, nothing is more delightful than Kellogg's for lunch—with fruits or honey added.

All over the world they are popular for the children's evening meal—because they are so light, wholesome and easy to digest.

And many a man enjoys them as a bedtime snack.

Only a few cents a bowl—no trouble to prepare. Is it any wonder that Kellogg's Corn Flakes is the most popular ready-to-eat cereal in the world?

And because it is so popular—there are, naturally, imitators. Some of these other corn flakes may be offered to you as "just like Kellogg's." But wise buyers know the difference. They know that no other corn flakes have ever duplicated the matchless Kellogg flavor and crispness.

That's why more than twelve million people eat Kellogg's every day. And why most people won't accept anything but the familiar red-and-green package. At all grocers. The genuine and only corn flakes made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

GRAPE JUICE IS THE BASIS FOR MANY COLD DRINKS

Mid-Summer Finds Icy Beverages More Popular Than in Previous Seasons.

Grape juice is the basis for many delicious icy cold drinks as the following recipes indicate:

Continental Punch.
One quart grape juice, one pint orange juice, one-half cup of sugar, one-third cup of lemon juice, four 12-ounce bottles ginger ale. Combine the fruit juices, sugar and ginger ale. Mix, pour over block of ice and serve with an ice cube or crushed ice in each glass.

Grape Juice Punch.
One quart grape juice, 12 lemons, three oranges, three pounds sugar. Squeeze the juice of the lemons and oranges into the grape juice. Pour boiling water over one-half of the rinds of the lemons and all of the oranges and let stand for 20 minutes. Drain and add to the juice with a syrup made of the sugar. When this has been thoroughly mixed, add enough water to make one gallon. Pour into punch bowl with plenty of cracked ice.

Pineapple Punch.
One quart grape juice, one and one-half cups of water, one pint of tea, two quarts chilled water, one and one-half cups sugar, one pint grated pineapple, juice of six lemons and juice of six oranges. Dissolve the sugar in one and one-half cups of water. Add the tea and fruit juices and let stand for one hour. Add the chilled water and serve with chopped ice.

Grape Juice Horse's Neck.
Peel six lemons in such a way as to have the rind continuous and leave the little round knob at each end. Cut the rind in two at the center and hang this half rind over rim of each glass, allowing the knob to hang over the edge of the glass. Put about two inches of chopped ice in the bottom of the glass; pour in one-third of a glass of grape juice, fill with cold charged water; add about one teaspoonful of lemon juice. Use tall glasses.

Delicious Coffee Shake.
For an individual serving put three tablespoons of coffee syrup, made by boiling together for five minutes equal quantities of strong coffee infusion and sugar, into a shaker. Add one cup of cold milk and shake for about one minute.

TASTY APPETIZERS FOR AUGUST MEALS

Some Are Jellied, Others Thickened With a Cereal and Merely Chilled.

Beginning the meal with a light appetizer before the main course has much to recommend it. In the first place, many a fussy, finicky, hot-weather appetite can be coaxed to forget its weariness by the sight and taste of some dainty "just right" dish that will arouse a desire for food and stimulate the digestive juices so that they can take care of the meal.

Those who are always blessed with hale and hearty appetites relish appetizers for their flavor and find them just as useful from the nutritive point of view.

Cold soups, whether jellied or merely chilled, offer so many possibilities that they are more and more becoming favorites of those who like good food. Jellied varieties such as jellied consommé or bouillon, tomato bouillon or jellied chicken position are quite usual on summer dinner tables. They are light, readily digested and when properly made and seasoned promote the flow of the digestive juices and so aid digestion. Furthermore, they are distinctly palatable.

Fruit soups are less frequently met with, though they are general favorites abroad. Fruit flavors are especially welcome in hot weather, and the fruits themselves are valuable summer foods because of their cooling acids and minerals. Then, too, this method of serving fruit is perhaps a bit different from the usual ones, so it has the spice of variety—in itself an excellent thing.

The following recipes give an idea of the many varieties of cold soups that may be made with very little time or effort. Remember that they should all be served well chilled, whether they are jellied or not. The rather new, glass bouillon cups in clear crystal or in pale tinted glass add to the attractive appearance of cold soups.

Raspberry Consommé.
Raspberry consommé is beautiful in color and delightful in flavor. Use two cups canned red raspberries. Put in a saucepan with the juice of one lemon, two cups water, two teaspoons granulated tapioca, about one-fourth cup sugar, or enough to sweeten slightly. Heat to the boiling point and boil slowly for 15 to 20 minutes, stirring frequently. Rub through a coarse strainer, cool, and then chill thoroughly. One teaspoon of cornstarch mixed with the sugar may be used instead of the tapioca. Any small fruit, cherries, plums, blackberries, apricots, etc., may be used in the same way.

Jellied Tomato Bouillon.
For four servings cut ripe tomatoes in small pieces to fill a quart measure. Put in a saucepan with a small sliced onion, a stalk of celery, cut fine, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon sugar and two or three sprigs of parsley. Boil slowly for 20 minutes, then rub through a fine strainer. Add two bouillon cubes and reheat to dissolve them, adding at the same time enough water to make three cups liquid in all. Soak one and a half teaspoons plain gelatine in one-fourth cup cold water for five minutes, add to the hot tomato mixture and stir until dissolved. If the bouillon is pale in color, add a little red food coloring to tint it. Pour into four bouillon cups, cool and then chill. Just before serving the jellied mixture with a fork, sprinkle with minced parsley and serve with salted crackers.

Tuna Fish Salad.
Turn the contents of a one-pound can of tuna fish into a bowl and flake coarsely. Pour over this one-half cup each vinegar and water brought to a boil with one teaspoon pickles, spices, a grating of lemon rind and two teaspoons sugar.

DEFENDS FARM BOARD POLICY ON MILK LOANS

E. W. Tiedemann Points Out
Law Intended Functioning
Through Co-Operatives.

A headlong attack on the Federal Farm Board and its policies, published in Wednesday's Post-Dispatch, with particular reference to the St. Louis milk situation, was declared unjustified by the facts in a formal reply today by E. W. Tiedemann, president of the Sanitary Milk Producers, Inc.

The polemic against the Farm Board was submitted for publication by W. A. Moody, president of the St. Louis Live Stock Exchange. It declared that exclusion of non-members of co-operatives from Farm Board loans applicable to drought relief was "a flagrant violation of every principle of justice."

The Farm Board's primary function, of course, is not drought relief—an emergency which arose after the board was formed—but establishment of orderly methods of agricultural production and marketing, largely through co-operatives.

Drought relief was "a flagrant violation of the principle of justice," is specifically in the hands of national, state and county committees organized by President Hoover's relief plan.

"The recent attack made by W. A. Moody, president of the St. Louis Live Stock Exchange, upon C. B. Denman, the Federal Farm Board and Sanitary Milk Producers, in which Mr. Moody states that 'the Farm Board has undertaken to coerce drought stricken milk producers to join an organization which they do not endorse,' is absolutely unjustified by the facts in the case," said Tiedemann.

"The agriculture marketing act which created the Federal Farm Board and authorized the appropriation of a revolving fund of $500,000,000 for farm relief states plainly that the funds can be made available only through co-operatives. The intent is not only to encourage agricultural co-operative marketing, but to loan Government funds only to responsible agencies which would guarantee every dollar put out. Neither Mr. Denman nor any other member of the Farm Board had any part in the writing of the bill, which was developed in a special session of Congress.

"Must Let Farm Bill Guide.

"As a board member he can pursue no course other than to carry out the provisions of the farm bill as it is written. This should be plain to every unbiased person. As has been stated before, other agencies are being established to administer aid to those who are not members of the co-operatives. No milk producer is therefore coerced or even encouraged to join the organization for the purpose of obtaining a loan for drought relief.

"The Sanitary Milk Producers, Inc., is composed of over 7000 dairymen in the St. Louis milk territory who wanted better conditions under which to sell their milk. The individual farmer felt himself at a disadvantage, not only in the matter of price, but also in lack of knowledge of market conditions, and in the weighing and testing of milk which has been entirely in the hands of the buyers. After only one year of organization work among the producers in a territory extending for over 20 counties in Missouri and Illinois, in spite of the opposition of the largest distributor in St. Louis, our organization represents a large majority of these producers and we hope will ultimately compose them all.

"Most of the dairymen in the St. Louis territory who are not now members of the Sanitary Milk Producers stayed out, either because they were threatened by a large buyer in St. Louis that he would not buy their milk if they became members, or because they were unwilling to indorse the policy of Sanitary Milk Producers who believe that along with any improvement in marketing conditions must come an effort on the part of the producers to improve the quality of the milk itself. No dairymen to my knowledge has joined the Sanitary Milk Producers merely for the purpose of obtaining a loan for drought relief.

Findings of Commission.

"The Consumers' Milk Commission after four months study of the situation declared the plan which was established jointly by representatives of all but one of the large dealers, the Sanitary Milk Producers, and consumers, would insure the permanence of a uniform milk supply for St. Louis under equitable and orderly conditions. Kansas City, which is now in the throes of a milk strike may well look with envy upon St. Louis, where consumers' representatives took steps to protect their own interests by scrutinizing the conditions under which milk is produced, and working for the elimination of waste in the distributing of one of the necessities of life.

"The present agreement between Sanitary Milk Producers and the co-operating dealers in St. Louis removes the possibility of milk strikes with their attendant disturbance of the milk supply and marks a forward step in the St. Louis Dairy Industry, which is particularly fitting in the home of the National Dairy Show."

"Mr. Moody's comments indicate a prejudice toward co-operative marketing which open minded citizens will not permit to cloud the issue."

A Novel of Modern Youth

CHAPTER 45. THE HANDS OF TIME.

HE was almost afraid to look around at Alan, for fear he might have overheard that final admonition. She devoted herself to her plate, wondering vaguely what had become of the first two courses. . . . She felt Alan's eyes; felt them so acutely that her cheeks burned. She kept on eating, taking very small, prim bites of this and that. A bite of fish. A nibble of bread. A sip of water.

"I hope," said Alan softly, "you choke."

She looked at him then, wide-eyed. "Ah!" he said. "That's better. Insults get results. Now will you be good enough to drop that fork and give me your undivided attention for a moment!"

She dropped the fork and folded her hands, looking them to the table edge by their little fingers. "You have it."

"Why," he began sternly, "didn't you tell me?" He tapped the magazine.

"Well—for one thing, you said you were afraid of artists."

"I am! And if I'm afraid of artists, how do you think geniuses affect me?"

Dolly smiled at him. "Oh, you heard him?"

"Heard him! They heard him in Harlem! And when he pounded the table, pictures fell off the walls in Queens! Of course I heard him. And I hastened to open my own copy, to look for myself, and found to my unutterable confusion that the old baby's probably right!" He scowled fiercely. "You got that seat under false pretenses, woman. You got it because I thought you and I were interlopers in the realm of the arts, and should stick together. And now look at you!"

"Well," said Dolly meekly, "shall I move?"

They smiled together. Alan abandoned his bantering tone; he turned slightly sideways on his chair, the better to contemplate her. "I want to know all about it," he said. "I want to catch up. You were a model a year ago—and then what happened?"

She explained briefly, lightly. "Well, I'd been studying art off and on for two or three years, and about the time I met you I was just beginning to do something with it. I got a few odd jobs, and I used to take one day a week off from posing, and draw. I got along fairly well, and a couple of magazines took an interest in me, and pretty soon I had to take two days a week off. Then I picked up some commercial work, ads and fashion sketches. And I sold another magazine a full-page drawing to go with a poem—a college boy I knew wrote the poem—and they gave me a story to illustrate. My first story. About that time I began to take three days a week. And—" she paused. "And so it went."

"How many days," inquired Alan, "are you taking now?"

"All of them."

"Not posing any more?"

"No. I haven't for four or five months."

"I'm glad I didn't call you," he remarked thoughtfully.

"She scanned him with interest. "Did you think of calling me?"

"Several times. I was going to call you and ask you to pose for some of our stuff. And, you know."

"Well, why didn't you?"

"I—just didn't." His eyes met hers for a strange, a clashing instant; then he said again, "I think I would have," he said. "Before long, if I hadn't happened to run across you again. You see—it's been lately that I thought of calling."

"Oh." After a little deliberation Dolly said, picking her words, "I don't know whether that's complimentary or not. It's nice to be remembered after a year—but it would be nice if you'd remembered me once or twice during that year."

"I mean, remembered me when you needed a model," she added in some confusion and flushed.

She looked very carefully at her plate, and was aware that Alan beside her was looking at him. From the tail of her eye she saw him peer two tiny French peas with his fork. "I remembered," he said. "But I had a lot of things on my mind, until lately."

"Oh," Dolly murmured again. She took up her own fork, dabbed aimlessly with it.

"Gay divorced me, you know," said Alan.

Dolly laid down the fork again. She felt—unaccountably, idiotically—that it would tremble if she didn't. "Really?" she said.

Alan sent her a quick oblique glance. "I told you that day that she was going to."

"Yes, but I thought—I thought perhaps afterwards she—you—"

"No," he said. Merely that. Nothing more.

WITH one accord they turned away from one another then, and became excessively polite to the persons on the other sides. Dolly asked Eric Harker if he took his characters from real life or if he invented them, but to this day she does not know what he answered. She was absorbed in the thumping of her pulses, in the singing of her mind. She was busy with self-rebuke. "Little fool! Silly! Stop it! There's no reason for you to feel like this!"

Presently she sensed that Alan had concluded his remarks to the old lady on his right and turned back. At once she was in a fever

LIGHTHOUSES—

THE EGYPTIAN KING PTOLEMY, ERECTED IN ALEXANDRIA A GREAT MARBLE STRUCTURE SO HIGH THAT IT BECAME ONE OF THE WONDERS OF THE ANCIENT WORLD. THEN HE PLACED A BEACON FIRE ON ITS SUMMIT TO GUIDE SHIPS TO ALEXANDRIA.

THIS WAS THE FIRST LIGHTHOUSE EVER USED AND FOR YEARS AFTERWARDS LIGHTHOUSES WERE KNOWN AS 'PHAROS', THE NAME WHICH PTOLEMY GAVE TO HIS FIRST STRUCTURE.

What is the origin of the expression, "There's many a slip twixt cup and lip"? Answer tomorrow.

a dollar now . . . higher-priced, like everything else . . . money money . . . soon another dread deluge of bills . . . getting near the end of the month . . . this was what . . . the 28th . . . Anniversary.

She very slightly smiled. "Well, one thing's certain: I'm not as blue as I was a year ago tonight!" And then, something of the anguish of that night recurring to her, she shook her head sharply, closed her eyes, propped her elbows on the dressing table, and with her palms now I think it's best for us both if I give up trying to hold you and—let you go."

She remained thus, motionless, for a long time.

Her mind reached further back into last year, back to the day of her release from the hospital. Alan in his roadster had come for her, because she had telephoned the day before and asked him to come and drive her home. They had talked scarcely at all on the way. Alan had been very dear, very solicitous and kind; but not talkative.

She had snuggled low in the seat beside him, rehearsing mentally, for the hundredth time, the things she would say . . . later . . . And later, in the living room of their bungalow on the roof (having invited him to "come on up and talk a little while") she had said those things.

She did not remember now what words she had spoken. What gestures employed. It was of no consequence. She remembered Alan's words, almost every one, and his eyes, and even his voice, quiet and even. "But what would be the use, Gay? The thing's quite hopeless. We could patch it up—but no."

"I was hinting," said Alan.

"She looks very lovely."

"She is. She's marvelous."

Alan let the pages fall back into place. "So," he said, "you don't live on Eighth street any more?"

"No. I moved in June when Bee was married. I've got a little studio apartment on University Place. One of those," said Dolly, "that are all studio. You know."

"No, I don't," said Alan.

"Why, I mean the studio is so huge compared to the other—" She broke off; laughed a little. "You were fooling," she said.

"I was hinting," said Alan.

"Oh. Well—you can come and see it some day, if that's what you mean."

"What day?"

"Oh—any day you like."

"Tomorrow is one of my favorite days," said Alan.

HE was seated at her dressing table polishing her nails with a buffer like a tiny white boat, when she suddenly remembered. In the looking glass she saw herself remember; saw the slender brows contract under the scalloped yellow hair, saw the brown eyes fix and widen, the pink-tipped hands grow listless, cease their motions.

She dropped the buffer and joined her fingers loosely. She sat still. Like a portrait of a girl, that she sat. A portrait of a girl whose filmy silk peignoir with its border of willed lace lay open, revealing above a chiffon slip her creamy throat, etched with dead white lines, thin, crooked, cruel. . . . but Gay was not looking at the lines. She was looking at the wide dark eyes, watching them intently, as if to see how they took the small, dull blow her memory without warning had delivered.

She had been divorced a year today.

All day she had not thought of it. Each day was like another, and time went by, and the month and the date meant little. She had never once recalled what day this was until just now, when the day was old, when the city glittered, baffling the night with a billion bright white lights, beyond her windows, sitting here before the mirror, staring, she could trace the sequence of idle thoughts that had ended finally in this recollection.

Blind Violinist of Air Taught by Mother

THE teaching of his patient mother is credited by Archibald Sowden, 28, known as the "blind violinist of the air," for the talent he has.

Sowden, born in St. Paul, has lived most of his life at West Union, Ia. His mother, Mrs. W. A. Sowden, herself a pianist, reads music to him and sounds the notes on the piano. He repeats them on the violin. The violinist does not play by ear, yet he can give the key in which a number is written the moment he hears a note struck.

With Janet Simpson, pianist of West Union, Sowden for eight years has broadcast over WCCO, Minneapolis, and this summer they have broadcast over WOC, WHO, and WAT, Waterloo.

Anger she could have soothed. Hurt she could have anointed with tears and healed with promises. Reproach she could have defeated by vehement self-reproach: "I'm all you say and more, and I'm so sorry."

But against his case, he had no weapon. She tried them all: tears, pleadings, protestations. But none availed. "It wouldn't work out," he said over and over. "It wouldn't ever work out."

"You know, Gay, I hated your loving Jerry Davis. But I think I have your coarseness to love him—now that he's unfortunate—more."

The Crickets' Trip

"W"ERE going to a concert up in the air," said the Little Black Clock.

"Hurry along! I've turned the time ahead and our plans are waiting for us."

The concert is going to be given in front of the leading air hotel."

John and Peggy got into the plane with the Little Black Clock and the pilot. In hardly any time at all they were up in front of the air hotel and the band was all ready to start.

Many people were sitting around waiting for the concert to begin. The Little Black Clock found seats for John and Peggy and himself.

In a few minutes the music began. It was beautiful. It seemed strange to Peggy to think that they had come up so far and that the sky was still so high above them.

The band was playing a very lovely tune, and had reached a part of the music where they were playing very softly when some little chirping sounds could be heard.

"What can they be?" John whispered to the Little Black Clock.

"They sound like crickets," Peggy answered.

The people heard the little chirping sounds and thought they were a part of the piece of music and that in so many other things was very modern music even for them.

"I know what happened," the Little Black Clock said. "The crickets probably came along with us when we left the earth and got out of the place after we landed."

"That must be it."

And that was what had happened. Before they left they found the two crickets and took them back to earth with them, for they thought the crickets would like the earth and its trees and shrubs better than this place up in the air.

But Peggy and John and the Little Black Clock thought it was a great joke that the people had thought the chirping of the crickets was some very new kind of music!

Drownings

THERE is something extremely poignant in death by drowning which singles it out from among all other causes of mortality. Its unexpectedness and its swift and suddenness to the grief of those related to the dead.

In the vast majority of the accidents which single it out from among all other causes of mortality, its unexpectedness and its swift and suddenness to the grief of those related to the dead.

Unfortunately, death certificates do not tell us whether the drowned person was able to swim. Common observation and experience teach us that probably as many of the accidents result from excess confidence and rash swimming as from inability to swim.

In the last analysis, man is a land animal and when in water is out of his medium. One substantial contribution toward the elimination of accidental death by drowning would be the teaching of all of the children in our public schools how to swim.

The public at large, too, should be instructed on water hazards. It is interesting to note that although our beaches and bathing places are equally patronized by women and men, male deaths by drowning far exceed female deaths—the ratio, differing for different places, being on an average of 11 male deaths to one female death.

Three-quarters of the deaths by drowning fall in the groups over 20 years of age.

These deaths represent a loss to the community of valuable individuals, and the creation through these untimely deaths of a large body of dependents—the burden of whose support must be assumed by other individuals.

A trail is planned from Death Valley, Cal., below sea level to the summit of Mount Whitney, 14,496 feet high.

THE annoyance of the prevailing circular skirts is that they have a tendency to shorten all around or in spots, particularly at the back. And with many hems being more plicated edges or tiny rolled effects, it seems impossible to change the hemline. But a skirt may be made more even and considerably longer if the material is dampened and ironed or stretched on the bias instead of pressed on the straight.

Naturally it is wise to stretch only that part which has shortened. Chiffon, georgette, silk crepe, shantung and such fabrics will respond surprisingly.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—The Maintenance of the slightly mo
